

White Man Exonerated
In Automobile Fatality

Another motor smash fatality occurred in the county last Thursday night when Bill Coffield, Negro, was the victim of a three car smash on the Virginia Highway just south of Evans Church. Coffield died three hours after the accident in the Albemarle hospital, Elizabeth City. His head had been crushed in and he additionally suffered a broken leg and arm.

On Friday morning with a continuation into the next day Coroner M. P. Whichard conducted an inquest into the cause of the catastrophe. Judson B. Schleifer, of Miami, Fla., driver of an advertising circus truck which was one of the vehicles figuring in the road mishap, and who was hurt about the forehead and hand, had been held by the authorities. The inquest exonerated him of all blame, however.

According to Corporal George Dail, home from the Fort Raleigh celebration for a few hours Thursday night, Schleifer and Coffield were coming south on the highway. One vehicle tried to pass the other, and both turned over, the Coffield car being completely torn asunder and wrecked. In the meantime Arthur G. Byrum, of the Ryland section, came from the direction of his home and in the rain and darkness crashed into the two overturned cars. Fortunately he was unhurt but his car was badly damaged.

A large crowd of Edentonians were attracted to the scene out of curiosity and saw Coffield sent on hurriedly to Dr. J. A. Powell's office, where it was found nothing could be done for the injured man, and he was sent to Elizabeth City where he soon died.

IT'S POSSIBLE TO "FARM
THE LAND AND KEEP IT TOO"

In contradiction to an old saying—"you can't have your cake and eat it too"—the Soil Conservation Service points to thousands of good farmers who "farm their land and keep it too."

Along with other units of the United States Department of Agriculture the Soil Conservation Service finds increasing evidence that — properly farmed—there is plenty of land to grow even more than the Nation needs, and yet maintain fertility, control erosion, and maintain game birds and other wildlife disappearing from farm lands.

There are increasing reports to the Department that complete subjugation of the land is not necessarily good farming and that "clean" farming on sloping lands with rectangular fields, straight rows, no strip cropping, fences parallel to section lines and no shrubs, trees, or permanent pasture, is a sure way to "farm your land and lose it too."
