

Rain, Heat Affect Prices On Market

Wide Ranges In Quality Result In Fluctuating Returns

Trading in North Carolina fruits and vegetables, while fairly active this week, was handicapped early in the period by daily heavy rains and later by high temperatures. Wide ranges in quality of most green vegetables brought corresponding spreads in prices at relatively low levels, whereas, fresh fruits, principally peaches, following normal receipts, moved out satisfactorily at slightly higher levels, the weekly summary of the U. S. and State Departments of Agriculture revealed.

At Chicago the two-way trend in hog trading of last week carried over into this week but the trend was reversed as medium weights were 10 to 15 cents lower and heavies were 10 to 15 cents higher. Highly finished, good and choice steers sold off early in the period but closed the week at most all markets with the advance regained. Compared with last Friday, spring lambs and yearlings fluctuated mildly during the week and closed the period at Jersey City at 9.75 for good and choice Virginia springers.

Commodities affecting North Carolina sold as follows Friday:

Peaches—Bushel baskets, U. S. No. 1, Elbertas, 2 in. min., at Philadelphia, $2.10 to $2.35, as compared with $1.60 to $2 last Friday; at Baltimore, $1.75 to $2.00, the same price as quoted last week.

Watermelons—Bulk per 100 melons, at Washington: Tom Watsons, 30 pound averages, $30.00 to $35.00; 35 to 40 pound averages, $40.00. Cuban Queens, 15 to 20 pound averages, $20; 26 to 30 pound averages, $30.

Hogs—At Rocky Mount, prices were 10 cents lower than last Friday and the top stood at $9.80.

Lambs—Spring lambs at Jersey City sold slowly with one dock of good and choice Virginia springers bringing $9.75 as compared with $10 last Friday.

Vealers—Good grade vealers were steady with last week and closed the period at Baltimore at $8.50 to $9.00 with a few odd head of choice grades going at $9.50.

Cattle—The week's close at Baltimore found a few head of low cutter and butter grade cows steady at $4.00 to $5.00. Trading in Chicago Friday was a clean-up affair and a little weakness developed here and there on medium grade, grassy steers. Yearling type light steers and typical yearlings were fully steady. The top was $11.35 which price was paid for a load of mixed steers and heifers.

Wilkins Attends High Point Furniture Show

W. M. Wilkins was among the large number of furniture dealers of the State to attend the mid-summer furniture and rug exposition held at High Point.

This great event, which is staged twice a year in the Tomlinson Exhibition Building and the Southern Furniture Exposition Building draws keen buyers of home-furnishings from a great area.

Within the confines of the two buildings were shown the products of America's finest manufacturers, arranged to simplify for the retailer the task of selecting the best furniture that the industry affords.

In addition to making selections for his Fall displays, Mr. Wilkins renewed old acquaintances and met with other members of The Guild of Tomlinson Quality Dealers in which he is enrolled.

The Guild of Tomlinson Quality Dealers, says Mr. Wilkins, is one of the finest cooperative movements ever developed to benefit the public.

"Only dealers of unquestioned integrity, taste and experience can enjoy the benefits of membership," he points out. These benefits include not only sharing of Guild prestige, but the advantages of the strongest and most complete selection of fine furniture ever assembled by Tomlinson of High Point.
