We Want More Industrial Investors - - and Industrious Home Seekers
Who are seeking an ideal location to visit this fine, rich and progressive Chowan County. No matter whether it be for recreation, good fertile farm lands, unmatched home or industrial site, where every advantage is offered

Located in the heart of one of the richest agricultural sections of the United States, barring none, and blessed with a climate unexcelled, Chowan County, while one of the smallest in area in the State of North Carolina, offers industrious home-seekers unequalled opportunities for a healthful, happy and profitable living.

Chowan County is a veritable "Land of Eden," rich in its resources created by nature. Its lands are adaptable to producing any kind of crop grown in this section of America. Fine cattle grazing and hog raising lands will be found in every section, and while cotton, corn and peanuts constitute its principal crops, both sweet and Irish potatoes are raised in abundance, as well as vegetables of all kinds. In fact the variety of the rich soil and favorable seasons permit profitable cultivation of any kind of crop grown in the temperate zone.

Industry is varied, and there is a distinct opportunity for capital to invest in food producing products, products from timber, sea food, canneries, textiles, and many other lines. Ample and dependable hydro-electric power is available at reasonable prices to practically all parts of the county. An almost unexhaustible supply of intelligent labor, removed from any agitating influence, happy in its home life, makes working conditions in Chowan County ideal.

Chowan County, since it was established in 1658, has always enjoyed good government, and is not in default on a single obligation, its bonds selling well above par. The county's tax rate is low, and valuations are most reasonable. Due to its splendid progressiveness, the County's tax rate was cut 15 cents for the coming year.

There is a distinct opportunity in Chowan County for men of means, ability and experience to enter into the manufacture of various products, agricultural endeavor, cattle and hog raising. If interested in making capital investment, Chowan County asks that you investigate carefully the many advantages and opportunities within its borders.
