

W. J. Yates Operates Fine Sinclair Station

Modern and Well Equipped Station Located At Strategic Point For Traveling Public

Located on the corner of Queen and South Broad Streets in the heart of Edenton, W. J. Yates, who has been identified with the automotive industry for the past half score years, has built and opened one of the finest stations in this section of the state, serving the motoring public with the famous Sinclair products.

Mr. Yates, formerly connected with the Chowan Motor Company, built and opened the station in early 1937. Since that time he has given his personal attention to the general operation of the station, surrounding himself with assistants who have been trained in serving the motoring public in every respect.

The station is modern in every way. Modern lubricating, factory approved equipment has been installed, latest type washing racks, battery testing and recharging equipment, and other items and features have been incorporated into the building and general operation of the station in order to insure car and truck owners the most satisfactory service possible.

The station is agent for the Goodrich line of tires, tubes and accessories, including batteries, and carries a general line of automobile parts for practically every emergency, in addition to maintaining a road service within reasonable distance of Edenton for the convenience of its patrons.

Beverages, candies and light food are also obtainable at the station, as well as daily inspected modern rest rooms, completely furnished for the public.

Joseph Hewes Hotel On Historical Site

Under Management of W. R. Horton Hotel Is Distinct Credit to Edenton

Built on a site that has been used as a tavern and hotel for more than 200 years, the Hotel Joseph Hewes, named for one of Edenton's most illustrious sons, is one of the most modern hostels in the entire Albemarle section of North Carolina.

The house has 77 rooms, modernly and attractively furnished, nearly all having a combination private tub and shower bath with hot and cold running water. The entire house has been redecorated and put in up-to-date condition within the past twelve months.

Under the capable management of W. R. Horton many improvements and changes have been made since he assumed control in October 1935. A modern coffee shop has been added, banquet dining room with modern and up-to-date equipment and facilities in addition to trained and capable employees, insuring guests as fine and comfortable accommodations as will be found anywhere.

Mr. Horton personally oversees the operation of the coffee shop which is adjacent to the main lobby, as well as all banquets or private dinner and luncheon parties, and provides every comfort possible for guests of the hotel.

Before coming to Edenton and taking over the management of the Hotel Mr. Horton was connected with the Southern Hotel in Elizabeth City for a number of years. Prior to his connection there he was in Monroe, N. C., with the Hotel Monroe. He is a member of the Lions Club, the Edenton-Chowan Chamber of Commerce and is active in promoting and selling Edenton as a tourist and resort city, devoting a great deal of his time to following up the mailing lists of people making inquiries through the Ocean Highway Association of which he is an active member. He is a native of Durham, N. C.

The hotel is of brick construction, four stories in height, with elevator service and telephones in every room. Another feature of the hotel is that every room is an outside room and located near the water front facing the Court House green, the oldest Court House in use in North Carolina.

Dr. Selig Closes His Office In Edenton

Last Appointment Will Be Made Friday August 26

As has been expected for some time Dr. Julian W. Selig, of Elizabeth City, who has been operating a branch of his optometrical establishment in the Citizens Bank Building, appearing once every other week, for fifteen years, has decided to give up the Edenton branch and give his undivided attention hereafter to his office in the Pasquotank county seat. Extra demands on him make it impossible, he says, to get to Edenton as he has heretofore. His last appointment in Edenton will be Friday, August 26.

Dr. Selig declares he leaves Edenton with a sincere feeling of regret and trusts that he will see many of his old friends and patients in his home office. He pays his respect to advertising in The Herald, as he has all along, by saying "I wish to thank you for your fine cooperation rendered in keeping my dates straight, for I feel that my small weekly announcements in your paper served me well and were a contributing factor in making my Edenton office a successful one."

Miss Adelaide Tuttle Much Impressed With New N Y A Program

Miss Adelaide Tuttle, NYA supervisor, attended the two-day conference in Raleigh last week where a $1,500,000 appropriation for NYA construction in North Carolina claimed the principal attention. Miss Tuttle was especially enthused over the prospects in that the fund will make the NYA more extensive in scope. The program provides for furnishing laborers, tools and foremen to counties and cities which desire construction work done in their communities. Materials only will have to be supplied by the county or city desiring work done. Such a program has been made possible through $1,500,000 which will be allocated for use in the State.

Miss Tuttle says 15 building projects have been started in the State with a number more considered at the conference. She was very enthusiastic about proposed community houses which NYA youths will construct to be used by themselves and for demonstration purposes by various county farm and home agents.

Habit Motor Lines Cover Many Miles

First Class Freight Service Furnished To All Points In Eastern Carolina

The Habit Motor Lines, which serves the Albemarle section of the Carolinas, was established in 1925, operating between Edenton and Norfolk. Operations were begun with the use of one truck and was the outgrowth of two brothers, John and Joe Habit, who came to Edenton in 1924, opening and operating a dry goods store.

Today the line maintains a daily service between Norfolk and all points south as far as Beaufort, and including all the territory south of the Sound and on U. S. Highway 64, making connections with various transportation companies for shipment of freight to all sections of the Southern States.

The company has established one of the most outstanding records by operating for more than fourteen years without accident, interruption of service, or delay in making deliveries. Cargo is fully insured from point to point, the company operating under carrier franchise of North Carolina, Virginia and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Mr. Habit, who heads and operates the truck line, is a native of Syria, but has resided in Edenton since coming to America in 1914, is a naturalized citizen and one of Edenton's successful business men.

Chowan Awarded Merit Award For Clean Up Showing

Distinction Given By Better Homes In America

APPRECIATIVE

County One of Seven Honored In North Carolina

Echoes of Edenton and Chowan County's recent Clean-up and Better Homes campaign have been heard frequently since the month's activities here under the supervision of Miss Rebecca Colwell and J. Frank White, Jr., but cause for much gratification on the part of those who cooperated was word this week that Chowan County was granted a merit award for its part in the campaign.

The information was received by Miss Colwell and Mr. White from Better Homes in America with headquarters at West Lafayette, Indiana. Miss Isabel Hodgkins, administrative assistant, had the following to say:

"We are most happy to inform you that the Better Homes Committee for Chowan County was granted a Merit Award for the part it played in the 1938 Better Homes Campaign. Our Committee on Awards was impressed with the quality of your programs and the valuable types of home improvement projects which were conducted. Your report indicates that the campaign has had a large impact upon the present and future welfare of your county."

"We take this opportunity to express to you and to all who cooperated with you our appreciation of the service given in this year's campaign and to extend to you our congratulations for your splendid achievements."

Chowan was one of seven counties in North Carolina to be honored with a merit award for clean-up activities, which fact is a source of much pride on the part of Miss Colwell and Mr. White, who deeply appreciate the whole-hearted cooperation of citizens in both Edenton and the county.

Hobowsky's Modern Department Store

Business Established In 1914 By S. Hobowsky; One of Best Known Stores

The firm of S. Hobowsky, general department store, was established and opened in Edenton by S. Hobowsky early in 1904. Mr. Hobowsky came to Edenton from his native Russia.

Hobowsky's is one of Edenton's most popular department stores and enjoys a wide and profitable patronage. In the store will be found a modern display of quality merchandise for every member of the family, as well as other articles obtainable in every modern department store.

Mr. Hobowsky since coming to Edenton has been active in the retail and mercantile business of the community, and in addition to operating the large and modern department store, controls and directs a wool, hide, fur and junk business.

Associated with the business are his two sons, Isaac and Jacob, and a daughter, Esther, who are taking an active part in further developing and promoting the company.

Warwick Celebrates 25th Anniversary Of Girls' Auxiliary

The Warwick Missionary Society entertained Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Maebelle Winslow, featuring the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Girls' Auxiliary. On the brilliantly lighted lawn was a large table covered with a lace cloth. In the center was a five-pointed star of green and a large white birthday cake on which were placed twenty-five green candles. There were also four white candles in silver holders, and a silver tray to receive the offering. The program consisted of "The Parade of Progress," a review of the outstanding facts of G. A. history, shown by posters of green and white, a greeting from the Royal Ambassadors by J. Lester Spivey; a greeting from the Sunbeams by Sinnie Mae Parker; song, "Happy Birthday," by the group; and the response by Kathryn Winslow.

A supper of sandwiches, tea, ice cream and cake was served. This was followed by games and singing.

Those present included members of the W. M. S., their families, neighbors and friends, and the guests of honor. Members of the Girls Auxiliary are Helen Blanchard, Kathryn

Williamston Bids For Sale Tobacco Raised In Chowan

Former Chowan Resident Completes New Warehouse

Chowan tobacco growers were gratified this week by the announcement of the Williamston Tobacco Board of Trade that its great tobacco auction mart had been enlarged this season through the completion of a new large brick warehouse to be conducted by a well-known former resident of this county. Williamston is, of course, the nearest point of auction trade to growers in this section of northeastern Carolina, and the additional warehouse there to be conducted by A. T. Belch will make of the Martin County seat a keenly large and progressive market in the smaller group of sales places.

The tobacco market will open in the Bright Belt district next Thursday and all of the Williamston auction warehouses, including the new one just completed by the Belch interests, are in readiness for a great influx of expected business from the growers. Several sets of buyers from each of the great tobacco firms of the east will be on hand daily through the market, and auctioneers, men you know and men who know you, will see that prices are bid equal if not better than any other market in the State.

Mr. Belch is particularly enthused over his expected identification with the Williamston market. For several years he has been engaged in off-season operations as a large herring and roe canner at Colerain, and goes to Williamston in his new venture with the highest recommendations at his back. He is not new in the tobacco field having started in the business originally in Greenville and later was associated with the Robersonville market. He is recognized as a warm and thoughtful friend of the farmers and an untiring worker for their interests. His new association with the Williamston market is an assurance that the interests of the growers who bring their tobacco offerings to his new warehouse floor, will receive a square shake and secure the top price for their products.

Mr. Belch is, also, identified on the same market with Sylvester B. Lilley, Johnnie Gurkin and Bob Ingram, all long reckoned as upright leaders in the warehouse industry.

Mrs. D. M. Reeves Leaves Friday For Auxiliary Meeting

Represents State at National Convention In Oregon

Mrs. D. M. Reeves, who will assume the presidency of the local branch of the American Legion Auxiliary on October 1, and her son, Dan, and daughter, Catherine, will leave tomorrow to visit her brother, Willis Roughton, in Astoria, Oregon. While away she will, also, she says, try to attend the national convention of the Auxiliary to be held in Los Angeles in September.

Mrs. Reeves was chosen at the recent State auxiliary meeting in Winston-Salem to represent North Carolina at the national convention. Other delegates from North Carolina will be Mrs. Herbert Taylor, of Dunn, the new State president, the present president, Mrs. Newell, of Henderson, and Miss Aurelia Adams, also of Henderson.
