DISPLAY RECORDS Historic Story of Church Featured at Afternoon Meeting at 3:30

In 1808 the last year of President Thomas Jefferson's administration, which was thirty years before Trinity College, now Duke, was founded, and College, now Duke, was founded, and twenty-eight years before the North Carolina Conference of Methodism was established, the organization of the Methodist Church was begun in Edenton. The first preacher of this early Church was named Enoch Jones, and his first flock consisted of line whites and nine blacks. The nine whites and nine blacks. The Presiding Elder accountable for this organization was Philip Bruce, who was a chaplain in the Revolutionary

The Methodists were greatly weakened by the Civil War. In 1866 they could show on roll only thirty members, twenty-seven of whom were women. In response to the appeal for bells at the beginning of this war this Church gave its bell which was moulded into one cannon and called the "Fanny Roulhac," one of the four cannon of Edenton's famous Bell Battery. In the year 1872, the Presiding Elder of this Church was Rev. L. S. Reed, who was a brother of Dr. Walter Reed, the famed conqueror of

On Sunday, October 23, beginning at 11 o'clock, the Methodist Church will celebrate the one hundred and thirtieth anniversary of its organization in Edenton. At the 11 o'clock worship service, Rev. H. I. Glass, of Burlington, former pastor, will speak.

At 3:30 in the afternoon, a brief historic story of the Edenton Church will be given by the pastor, and the names of the clergymen and laymen who labored faithfully and well in its service, "loved long since and lost a-while," will be commemorated.

At the evening service at 7:30, Rev. W. A. Cade, Presiding Elder of Wilmington District, will deliver (Continued on Page Five)

Hour Of Meeting

Regular Luncheon on Thursday at 6:30 Instead of 1 O'clock

Tonight the Edenton Rotary Club inaugurates a new hour of weekly meeting, when at 6:30 o'clock President Oscar Brown will tap the Rotary bell calling the club to order in the Parish House. The former hour of meeting was 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon, the change being made with the thought in mind that it would be more convenient for a greater number of the members and thus stimulate attendance.

President Brown is high in his praise of the splendid meeting of the Southern Albemarle Association held in Columbia last Thursday and which was attended by the local Rotary Club, and is hopeful that every member of the club will be present at the first regular night meeting tonight.

New Meat Market Starts In Edenton
