Gallopade Program Greatly Enlarged

Releasing the completed program for the Seventh Annual Gallopade in Rocky Mount April 30 to May 2, President Marshall Spears said an enlarged festival had been planned for this year to overcome "war worries and all other forms of Hitler jitters."

"Although we know the people's minds are likely to be distracted by the events overseas," he said, "we are adding on instead of taking off because only a larger and more entertaining program will break the worrisome tension under which folks in this section are living these days."

The square dance, said to be one of the largest in the South and the nation, will be on April 30, a costume carnival dance on May 1 and the more formal Gallopade Ball on May 2. Other daily events will be the pet parade on April 30, the big floral parade on May 1, and the Baby May Day Festival and all-star softball game on May 2. Over 80 persons are now actively engaged in working on one angle or another of the festival, and this year they will have more money to spend than ever before in the history of the Gallopade.

Methodist observe Rally Day Sunday

Sunday will be observed as rally day in the Methodist Sunday School, according to C. D. Stewart, superintendent. A program for the occasion has been arranged, it being planned for all departments to gather in the main auditorium of the church.

Efforts are being made to have a large attendance, especial attention being directed to former members of the school as well as to those who have been lax in attendance.

Yard Improvement Goal Of Civic League

Improvement of yards in connection with the observance of National Negro Health Week is the goal of the Junior Civic League. In order to carry out an improvement program, the following streets have been assigned:

Hobby Show Feature At Meeting Of P. T. A.

Featuring the Parent-Teacher Association meeting Tuesday afternoon was a hobby show, an exhibit by school children which proved very interesting. Philip McMullan won first prize in the contest, the exhibits being judged upon the merits of self-development and ingenuity of the children.

Following the business session, the recently discussed WPA recreational project was presented to members of the group, during which Mrs. J. H. McMullan stressed the need for recreational facilities for children.

The secretary reported on the garden project, plans having been completed and the garden already planted with vegetables which will be subsequently canned for use in the school lunch room. Fertilizer for the garden was contributed by Leary Bros., T. C. Byrum, John Wood and Louis Francis.

A report of the nominating committee for new officers for the year was submitted, and while there was no nomination for President, the following were named for the other officers: Vice President, Mrs. Philip McMullan; secretary, Miss Lena Jones; treasurer, Mrs. W. W. Byrum; chairman of clothes committee, Mrs. John A. Holmes.

Chestnut, who says plans must be completed for the district meeting to be held in Edenton on April 17.

Swine Sanitation Claims Attention Chowan Farmers

County Agent Charles W. Overman Makes Weekly Report

"Farmers in Chowan County are beginning to realize that most profitable hog raising depends upon thrifty pigs," says County Agent C. W. Overman in his weekly report. "During the last two or three years swine troubles have gradually increased. It has been found that a large amount of the trouble is being caused by worms weakening the pigs and rendering them subject to disease. In order to produce thrifty pigs we must prevent them from becoming infested with worms. This means swine sanitation."

"E. V. Vestal, Extension Swine Specialist of State College, was here this week assisting the agent with swine sanitation plans. Thrifty pig demonstrations are being started with T. C. Byrum of Edenton, George C. Wood of Greenfield, and A. C. Griffin of Cowpen Neck. Others are showing interest and may start thrifty pig work this spring."

"Four-H club work in Chowan County appears to be progressing nicely. Meetings were held with the boys this week. Project procedure in each project was briefly explained by the agent. Instruction manuals and record books were given the club members. At least sixteen boys are planning to grow the same variety of corn so that we may have a County Corn exhibit for the N. C. State Fair next fall."

"The Chowan Senior 4-H Club staged a 4-H music appreciation radio program over Station WCNC of Elizabeth City. John Privott gave a story connected with the songs used. The club members sang "Follow the Glean," "A Song of the Open Country," "Dreaming," "The Ploughing Song" and "The Song of Health." Nita Davidson sang "The Four Leaf Clover" as a solo. For most of the club members it was their first visit to a broadcasting studio. They were very much thrilled with their experience."

Milk Delivered In Edenton Must Be Properly Labeled

According to W. F. Gaylord, sanitary inspector for the Bertie-Chowan Health Department, milk that is being delivered in the Town of Edenton should be properly labeled as to the kind of product. Delivering of milk in cans, jars, jugs or other containers, except standard milk bottles, is prohibited. All milk not produced under Grade A requirements must be labeled Grade D.

Any person selling milk in the Town of Edenton must have a written permit from the County Health Department.
