

Mr. and Mrs. Privott At Home To Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Wood Privott were "at home" Friday afternoon from five to seven, when they received approximately 125 guests.

The hall, living room and dining room were attractively decorated with poinsettias, red berries, holly and pine. In the dining room, the table was covered with a fine lace cloth and centered with a cluster of nandina berries. At each end of the table were red candles in silver candleholders.

Chicken salad sandwiches, ham between beaten biscuits, hors d'oeuvre, salted nuts, fruit cake, punch and coffee were served.

Presiding over the punch bowl during the evening were Mrs. W. I. Hart, Mrs. T. C. Byrum, Mrs. L. P. Williams and Mrs. A. G. Byrum. Mrs. J. A. Holmes, Mrs. W. E. Bond and Mrs. Philip McMullan poured coffee. Assisting in serving were Miss Jessie McMullan, Mrs. George Privott and Mrs. Leo Wilhelm.

TOWN EMPLOYEE DIES

Andrew Bullock, colored employee of the Edenton Street Department, died at his home Saturday night. He died after being partially paralyzed several weeks before.

BAND MEMBERS ENJOY PARTY

Immediately after the concert on Main Street Friday evening, C. L. McCullers, director of the Edenton High School band, entertained the senior members of the band at a dance at Hotel Joseph Hewes. Punch and wafers were served. A delightful time was had.

On Monday evening Director McCullers entertained the members of the junior band at his home on Water Street. The youngsters celebrated Christmas with fire crackers and had a jolly good time.

Midnight Mass, Crib At Catholic Church

A remarkably close resemblance to the original scene in the Stable at Bethlehem at the first Christmas, when our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ was born into this world over 1900 years ago, will be shown through statues, etc., representing the Divine Babe, His Mother Mary, Foster-father St. Joseph, the Angel singing "Gloria in Excelsis Deo," shepherds and animals with Stable at Mass midnight between Christmas Eve and Christmas morning in St. Ann's Catholic Church, corner North Broad and Albemarle Streets, Edenton, announced Rev. Father F. J. McCourt, pastor.

Christmas Service At Mackeys M. E. Church

A Christmas service was held at the Mackeys Methodist Church last Sunday evening. The theme was "Tidings of Great Joy." Love offering amounting to $3.54 was taken and turned over to the Red Cross. It was announced that the church will be kept heated all day Christmas for the benefit of any who might want to worship, and that service will be held Christmas evening at 6 o'clock.
