

Commissioners Ask John White Support Tax Collecting Bill

Would Put Levy on Personal Property Ahead Of Land Sales

In expectation of the General Assembly adjourning this week, Representative John F. White was present at the Chowan County Commissioners' meeting Monday and inquired of them if they had any requests which he could bring before the General Assembly before the session was closed.

One matter of especial interest to the Commissioners is a bill sponsored by the Association of County Commissioners, which would require the sheriff to levy upon personal property for delinquent taxes before advertising land for sale. It is the opinion of the Commissioners that this procedure would result in back taxes being paid more promptly, and for that reason they asked Mr. White to investigate the status of the bill and to support it if, and when, it comes to a vote.

By this method the sheriff could and would be required to seize personal property of those whose taxes were in arrears.

WELFARE REPORT

According to the report of Mrs. J. H. McMullan, acting superintendent of public welfare, 101 persons in Chowan County received old age assistance during February. The amount distributed to this number was $1,105. Nineteen families received $343.50 in way of aid for dependent children, which represented 37 children. There were six blind aid cases, who received $75.

During the month five paroled prisoners reported to Mrs. McMullan, as well as two paroled juveniles. Two employment certifications were issued to minors and one emergency hospitalization case was authorized. Five persons received general relief, 80 families received commodities and commodities were given to 14 schools in the county.

With the presentation of his report to the County Commissioners Monday, he was requested to continue and even increase his efforts to get into the county coffers all county taxes now past due.
