Blackout Test In Edenton Proves To Be Very Successful

Little Confusion as New System of Signals Is Used

Benefiting by reported confusion in previous blackouts held in other towns in the State, Edenton and Chowan County's test blackout last Thursday night was almost perfect, according to E. W. Spiers, chairman of the Chowan County Civilian Defense Council, and West Byrum, vice chairman. Both were delighted with the success of the blackout and were high in praise of their crops of workers, as well as citizens generally for the splendid manner in which they cooperated.

In only one instance did the blackout bog down and that was the failure of the district office in Elizabeth City to notify the State Highway radio station at Williamston so that State patrolmen could be informed that the blackout was in progress.

At the Edenton headquarters Leroy Haskett, assistant to Mr. Byrum, again officiated at the telephone and with a marked degree of dispatch he received and reported information coming in from the various sectors, as well as contacted others where minor irregularities were reported during the black-out and in each case the guilty parties were promptly notified and immediately complied with the request to put out the lights.

Only one report was received that a light was burning after the sound of the second blue alarm, which was where confusion resulted in other communities. This warning is intended in event any planes are expected to return, and is not to be mistaken for the all clear signal. The latter is made known when street lights are turned on.

Changes Made In Defense Council

Leroy Haskett's Name Omitted Last Week In List of Workers

In an article in last week's issue of The Herald having to do with the county defense set-up, the name of Leroy H. Haskett was inadvertently omitted. Mr. Haskett is deputy chief air raid warden and ranks next to W. W. Byrum, who is chief.

Mr. Haskett has been a big factor in the organization of the air raid wardens and has worked tirelessly in bringing this outfit up to its present state of efficiency. Moreover, Mr. Haskett is a mighty busy man at headquarters during a blackout. He receives all messages from the sector wardens at the 11 posts throughout the county and transmits orders to them from various keymen at headquarters and is doing a fine job of it.

Since the last issue, the emergency utility committee, headed by R. N. Hines as chief, has submitted the following list of its personnel: T. Wallace Jones, Clarence Spruill, J. W. Floors, Robert Gray, Kenneth N. Floors, C. H. Hollowell, Thomas Williams, C. H. Russell, Harry Lee Spruill and Simual Johnson.

Due to a number of the members having joined the Home Guards, some changes and additions have been made. Roy Leary and O. E.

Duncan have been assigned to Sector No. 1, under J. Clarence Leary, Warden.

S. S. Campen and John Albert Holmes, Jr., are assigned to Warden G. B. Potter, Sector No. 3.

Robert Oliver, Herbert Hollowell, Roger Haskett, W. E. Given and William Stokely are assigned to Sector No. 4, under J. Paul Holoman as Warden.

George Holland and Jasper Holmes are assigned to Sector No. 6, under R. W. Carden, Warden.

Miss Helen Goodwin has become a member of the Headquarters Staff and acts as secretary to the Defense Corps.

In the Auxiliary Firemen Unit, Erie Harrell has been assigned to the Fifth Fire Ward Sector under Captain Thurston Stallings. J. H. Basnight was assigned to Captain A. S. Hollowell in the Second Fire Ward Sector, and Clarence Yientz is assigned to Captain Dave Holton in the Third Fire Ward Sector.

Due to a mix-up in printing last week the list of the emergency medical service follows: Dr. Roland

H. Vaughan, chief. Assignment, Dr. Vaughan's office: Miss Gladysteen Hester, Mrs. D. M. Reeves, Miss Frye Pettus, Mrs. R. H. Vaughan, Dr. J. W. Warren, Dr. Wallace S. Griffin, Bert C. Newsome.

Dr. L. P. Williams, deputy chief. Assignment Dr. Williams' office: Dr. W. I. Hart, Jr., Miss Gladys Simpson, Grady E. Love, Mrs. R. F. Elliott, Mrs. James E. Wood, Mrs. C. C. Cox, Dr. O. L. Holley.

In case of black-out, each person on these two staffs is to report immediately to his or her respective stations where complete first aid sets have been installed.

Also, because of a mix-up in type, a reprint of the auxiliary police follows: G. A. Helms, chief; Jimmy Earnhardt, C. E. Byrum, Raymont Williams, E. L. White, S. C. Mills, Earl Goodwin, J. P. Roberson, W. E. Malone, Russell Cobb, Woodrow Lawrence, Josiah Elliott, J. W. White, Paul M. Wallace, T. B. Williford, L. M. Johnson, W. H. Parker, Richard P. Baer, Clyde C. Cobb, John L. Goodwin, Julian E. Ward and Jesse J. Miller.
