THIS WEEK'S BIBLE THOUGHT

FAITH IS THE GROUND FOR IMMOVABLE COURAGE: They that trust in the Lord shall be as Mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but abideth forever.—Psalms 125:1.

Not One Man's Job

With the beginning of 1947 the Chowan County Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association entered upon a new era in that for the first time in its history it has the services of a full-time executive secretary. Peter Carlton, former Boy Scout Field Executive of the Albemarle District, is now devoting all of his time to the work of the organization.

Mr. Carlton is very much enthused with his new position and before accepting the secretaryship, realized the potential possibilities of Edenton and Chowan County. He has many meritorious ideas and is ready and willing to go the limit in any effort which will benefit the town and county. He desires to become a part of the community and is very anxious to meet and make friends with not only Edenton people, but those living in the rural section as well.

The new secretary is well qualified for the position, but irrespective of his qualifications, or any other secretary, for that matter, he cannot do the job alone. He must have the backing and cooperation of the board of directors, as well as the membership as a whole. Of course, he is paid for his services, but to make the proper progress, the efforts of more than one man is necessary.

In years gone by, general criticism of the Chamber of Commerce has most generally been directed to the fact that it lacked effectiveness due to only a part-time secretary who did not, and should not have been expected, to devote all of his or her time to the work. Now, however, a full-time man is employed which, more or less, is an experiment. If progress in any marked degree is realized during the year, there should not be any trouble in subsequent years to raise the amount of money necessary to operate on a full-time basis. If, on the other hand, little is accomplished and members of the organization feel that a full-time secretary is unnecessary, then the next best thing to do is close up shop and forget all about a Chamber of Commerce. This would, however, be a calamity, for whether some people realize it or not, there have been and will continue, at one time or another, to arise occasions when some organized effort will be needed to press the claims of the town and county, without which either or both might be the loser.

The Herald has been of the opinion that a full time secretary is essential to a useful Chamber of Commerce, and with the proper cooperation on the part of members, the organization should, under the present plan, go forward and accomplish more than ever before.

Eyes will be on Mr. Carlton, but at the same time he will need the help and support of every member of the organization. With this cooperation, The Herald believes he will develop into a valuable asset to the town and county and under his leadership progress will be realized.

Faith, it is recorded, moves mountains, but mountains, it is reported, have been known to move faith.

Character building is talked about and recommended by parents to children, but the process gets little actual attention from human beings.

HEARD & SEEN

By "BUFF"

Chester Hawkins asked me the other day if I was a sound sleeper. "Why?" I asked. "Well," he said, "didn't you hear a group of colored folks serenade you Christmas eve?" Which brought to mind the fact that I heard some singing early Christmas morning, but sleeping in the rear of my house, I first thought the radio was turned on down stairs. Looking out a window, I saw a light on the porch at Marvin Wilson's home, and thought the Christmas carols were being sung on his porch. About the time I became awake enough to open the door, I heard one of my colored friends say, "I'm going home." At any rate, the fact that I thought it was a radio program I was hearing is reason enough to say that the singing was very good. However, the group had gone before I could get myself together even to yell "Merry Christmas."

Though I regret that Edgar Pearce's health required him to go to Florida for a rest, I more or less envy his trip. His physician asked him if he had any hobbies, so Edgar replied, "Yes, I like to fish." The doctor then told him to go some place where he could have a complete rest and devote some of his time to fishing. Edgar, therefore, plans to spend several weeks at Clearwater, Florida, where he can fish either in fresh or salt water. I'm waiting for him to return, when, I hope, he will be greatly improved in health and prepared to hand out a few tall fishing yarns. Those around here are about used up.

The County Commissioners on Monday, for some reason or other, talked about the oft-discussed building of a new county jail, when one of 'em said he wondered if WPA would return, in which case some Federal aid might be available. "No, let's not depend on WPA," said one. "The WPA built the new ball park on Hicks Field and started to put in wooden posts for the fence. It took so long to complete the job that termites ate up the posts and then concrete posts were put in." Anyway, here's hoping that conditions will not get so bad again that WPA will be necessary for some people to get something to eat. With the Republicans now in power, maybe we'll be sitting pretty.

Arthur Hollowell, Raleigh Hollowell, Jim Daniels, Frank Hughes and I journeyed to Washington, N. C., Monday night to attend a Red Men's meeting. The "bait" was a barbecue supper and it was a good one. The "bait" was successful also in getting a lot of the Washington Red Men out, which is mentioned in case some Edenton organizations are anxious to build up attendance—for one meeting, at least. Arthur Hollowell earned his supper, for he was called upon to install the new officers of the Washington tribe, and he did a very good job of it.

January will not be long in slipping away, so that here is a reminder to list your property for taxes. The tax lists are ready, so that if you get caught in the rush or are penalized for not listing during this month it will be your own fault.

Edgar Pearce Leaves For Florida To Rest

Edgar L. Pearce left Monday for Florida, where he will spend several weeks resting. Mr. Pearce has been in ill health for several months, and a complete rest was recommended by his physician. He will visit several points in Florida, but will most likely spend most of the time at Clearwater. Mr. Pearce was accompanied by J. P. Partin and Lloyd E. Bunch, who will return from Florida by train.
