

Scoutin' Around

By PETER CARLTON

MANY seek permanent homes in North Carolina. We're listing a few. Those readers interested can contact the Edenton-Chowan County Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association. Job Keyes, Route 1, Lewis River, Pa., wants lodge near ocean. First interested in Lost Colony set-up and neighborhood. W. H. Craig, 68 years old, worth "in the neighborhood of $750,000," quite active, wants to locate in nice town or city. Does not want to work, just live peacefully. Mr. Craig comes from 13 Grosvenor Street, Toronto, 5, Ontario, Canada. We might urge those who are interested write directly to the persons listed.

That certainly was a nice turnout for the Farm Bureau meeting held in the armory last Wednesday evening. A fair guess would place the number present close to 350. The fish was delicious, and the corn bread as good as cake. A glad hand to outgoing President Will Harrell and all who served as officers. Congratulations to all new officers.

Charlie Overman, our County Farm Agent, gave a most interesting talk on his trip to California at the Farm Bureau meeting. We, too, joined in the expression of pleasure relative to the position of Chowan County in Farm Bureau activities. Right on top! We might add that the Farm Bureau and many of the Home Demonstration Clubs have endorsed the resolution for a new Chowan River bridge.

Talking of tourist homes, good food, and a clean place to rest overnight! My wife and some of her people stopped at a private tourist home near Salisbury, N. C. The tale sounds almost like the one we spoke about recently. It was run by a little old lady. Her husband passed on and left her this huge home. She served biscuits and delicious food for only 60 cents per person for the grown ups and 35 cents for my boy. And she sat at the table as a gracious host urging them to eat. (You could just help yourself from the serving dishes and bowls). Needless to say, the good word will pass along to many others. And, of course, the woman does a good business. We are happy that Edenton tourist home proprietors are bending every effort to cater to the comfort of tourists.

We read in the papers recently of a child whose blood was removed from her body and new blood injected to save her life. It seems that the father's and mother's blood were of two conflicting types and on three other occasions their young infants died at or about 19 days after birth for no apparent reason. Medical science was at a loss to explain. However, recently, a young practitioner took a specimen of the blood of both parents and discovered the above mentioned conflict in blood types. When this last baby was born, the blood was tested and the situation discovered to be such that of a blood mixture which would result in the death of the newborn infant. They rushed the child to a hospital and with an infusion of new blood the baby is apparently thriving. I was particularly interested in this case, because one of the babies which died a few years ago was to have been first called "Peter Anthony Starkey." Husband Paul Starkey seems to like the name Peter Anthony for their infant. But Wife Pauline Laura disagreed and said so in no uncertain terms, even asking this writer if he didn't think the names were just terrible. In the silence of the room, Husband Paul informed her that she was speaking to "Peter Anthony" Carlton. Of course, we all had a good laugh. The child was finally named Michael Anthony. He passed on about the nineteenth day due to the conflict in blood types of the parents. This writer was informed that Gabriel Heater gave an account of the strange case over the radio just recently.

Slim Sanders was in town today looking over Hotel Joseph Hewes. He's going to take over and will arrive around March 1. Ed Schwarze will stay on until Slim makes himself familiar with the set-up. We believe Slim and his wife will operate the hotel. They are presently operating one in Florida. All of which brings to mind that the city is certainly going to town on the baseball field preparatory to the arrival of the farm teams this March. They have the foundations of two new dugouts laid and the infield has a layer of clay which will be packed to make good playing.

The Virginia Dare Hotel Garage in Elizabeth City sure was packing them in the other night. Tourists coming from the North packed the garage to the street—and at 75 cents a car—that's not bad business. (Not figuring service to the cars, washings, greasings, gas, etc.) Yes, sir, the "stackless industry" is surely a good name for the tourist trade. The State of North Carolina is spending plenty for advertising the beauties of the State, and is planning to spend a great deal more.

We rather resented a recent newspaper statement that North Carolina was not represented in the organization of National Guard units and showing lack of interest. Our unit is waiting on the papers. The officers have already been named. This outfit is going to be a humdinger. We feel sure that there will not be any trouble in recruiting personnel. There is a strong possibility that it will be turned into a tank company.

Buff was remarking on how well this writer was fitting the role of a Chamber of Commerce secretary, inasmuch as he alleges (Continued on Page Seven)

Patrolmen Nip Fire In Bud At Laundry

Promptness on the part of Patrolmen R. L. Pratt and S. J. West about 3 o'clock Saturday morning no doubt prevented another serious fire at the Edenton Laundry. While patrolling, the officers noticed a small blaze in the laundry and upon entering through a window, discovered an ironing board burning. Clothes were hurriedly removed from that portion of the building while the firemen were on their way, so that Fire Chief R. K. Hall estimated the damage at only about $10.
