THIS WEEK'S BIBLE THOUGHT

COMFORT FOLLOWS SORROW AS THE DAY THE NIGHT: Nevertheless, I tell you the truth; it is expedient for you that I go away; for if I go not away, the comforter will not come.—John 16:7.

Who'll Make A Start?

It is regretted that Coach Tex Lindsay was forced to cancel the baseball game with Kinston Friday afternoon due to his inability to secure transportation to Kinston for members of the team. This same problem has been discouraging practically every time a team of any kind is obliged to go elsewhere to play, as for instance football and basketball games. The coach must depend upon friends to either drive or furnish a car and invariably he is not assured of adequate transportation until the last minute, which adds considerably to the worries of a coach and the boys or girls as well.

So far as The Herald knows, this is the first time an athletic event was forced to be cancelled due to inability to get a team on the scene to play, but it is reasonable to believe that it can and will happen again due to practically the same persons volunteering to drive or furnish a car.

Friday's experience emphasizes the need for a bus or conveyance of some kind which would be at the disposal of the school for transporting students to athletic contests or other activities in connection with school affairs. In event a band is organized, the same problem of transportation surely will arrive.

Sports and other events at school are in keeping with the proper training and development of boys and girls, so that to hinder the program necessarily affects their progress.

Of course, Edenton concerns and individuals have been "worked to death" by being solicited for this or that drive to raise funds, but it seems to The Herald that a worthy project for one of the city clubs or other organizations, or all combined would be to begin a campaign to raise funds with which to provide a bus for use of school children in going away from home for any kind of contest. In an united effort this project is not impossible and surely is one having some merit.

Seems Like Step Forward

The Herald views with interest the movement on foot to inaugurate a community chest in Chowan County, which would eliminate half a dozen or more drives made every year to raise funds for this or that cause.

While there may be some objections to develop in connection with the idea, offhand The Herald sees a distinct advantage, for instead of one solicitation after another, one major drive would be held and each participating agency share in the proceeds.

The idea, brought up at a recent Rotary meeting, in the opinion of The Herald, is a step forward, for it will not only eliminate much work on the part of canvassers, some of whom are called upon as a worker in almost every drive, but it will erase a condition which is not only becoming monotonous, but actually boring to merchants and individuals alike. It isn't that those solicited are not in sympathy with a particular agency which will benefit by a drive, but it becomes boring to be solicited so many times during the year. Canvassers have heard grumbling while on their rounds and in some cases have not met with the courtesy which might be expected. After all, these canvassers sacrifice their time and energy not for any personal reward, but because they are interested in the purpose involved and seeing the county meet its quota.

The idea has been brought before the Lions Club and Chamber of Commerce, both organizations appointing a committee to work with the Rotary committee in an effort to lay the ground work for pooling the various drives into one major effort.

Of course, there will be a number of vexing details to be worked out, none the least of which will be to de-

HEARD & SEEN

By "BUFF"

Edentonians, as well as the rest of the nation, regret the misfortune which befell Texas City, Texas, but there has been some extra concern here due to the fact that a former teacher, Miss Sara McDonald, lives in the stricken city, and in scanning my mailing list I see she is a subscriber of The Herald. I understand that some of her friends have sent telegrams to learn if she escaped the tragedy, but as this is written I have not heard if any replies have been received. At any rate, here's hoping she was unharmed in a calamity that makes one shudder.

"Where'd you go Saturday?" asked Cal Kramer Sunday morning. "I went over in Tyrrell County below Columbia," was my reply. "Why, you can't get any votes over in Tyrrell County," he replied. Of course I can't, but I was after some fish, and I didn't happen to get any of 'em, either.

But speaking about fishing (and this is fine weather for it) someone was telling me that "One Fish" Malone went up Big Creek the other day. A number of bass were breaking and, it was told me, one of the big 'uns made a noise that sounded exactly like it asked, "Where's Schwazze?" Anyway, I hear Friend Schwazze is strolling around after being away for a time, but if I want to see him I expect I'll have to get in a boat to do it.

Edenton isn't the only town to have fishing stories, for I heard one from Hertford the other day. A certain fellow over there says he went fishing last year and after hooking a heavy bass he was expecting to land the fish. However, all of a sudden the weight left his line and when he pulled in his line he had a big fish eye on his hook. But then recently he went fishing and landed a big bass and much to his surprise the scudder had one eye pulled out. He declares it is the same fish he almost caught a year ago.

The younger set will be strutting their stuff Friday night when the Junior-Senior banquet and dance will be held in the officers club at the base. Music for the occasion will be provided by the ECTC orchestra, and it is the first affair of its kind to be held since 1944. A lot of us will remember when we were "eligible" to attend a prom or soiree, so that we envy the youngsters. It's no need to say we hope they will have a good time.

B-r-r-r, who said winter has left us? This week it was necessary to start fires again as Old Man Winter informed us he was still around. In fact, the High School baseball team was scheduled to play Columbia High under the lights Tuesday, but it was called off because of cold weather.

And speaking about the weather, a local prognosticator handed me the following prediction, directing me to pay particular attention to see how near it proves right. The prediction follows:

- April 24—Cold.
- April 25—Fair.
- April 26—Unsettled or wet.
- April 27—Cold.
- April 28—Cold.
- April 29—Warm.
- April 30—Unsettled and wet.

Well, if he's right I'll be willing to loan somebody my boat. O. K., Jim Cates.

Interest in politics is warming up now, with 18 candidates out for the 11 offices to be filled by the voters and rumors that there will still be other candidates. At the present rate, the value of one vote is gradually increasing, so that it will really mean something if a candidate votes for himself. At any rate, I'm a candidate and I'm asking readers of this column living in Edenton to place an X beside my name, if it doesn't hurt their conscience too much.

Getting out a newspaper is no cinch and this week especially took a lot of my time, so that as this is written I need a shave the worst kind. There's some consolation, however, for Charlie Newsome offered me an electric razor if I stopped long enough to shave.

side the agencies to share in the fund, as well as the amount received. It is reasonable to believe, however, that when a program is worked out, merchants and individuals would much rather make one annual contribution than to be bothered ever so often for a contribution for each individual drive.

What comment The Herald has heard has been entirely favorable, so that development of the idea will be watched with interest.

Legion And Auxiliary Have Fine Meetings

With Legionnaires and members of the Legion Auxiliary meeting at the same time Tuesday night in the headquarters in the officers' club, both organizations had one of the best attended meetings in a long time. The groups met separately with interesting meetings reported by each organization.

The Legionnaires agreed to contribute $100 toward the playground project sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club and appointed a committee to work out details for civilian membership in the Legion club which meets every Saturday night.

Two new members, J. L. Baker, Jr., and William M. Rhoades, were added to the Post.

Mrs. Annie Holmes Dies Early Sunday

Mrs. Annie E. Holmes, 89, died Sunday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. T. Alexander as the result of a stroke. She had been in ill health for three years. Deceased was a native of Tyrrell County, but had lived in Edenton 25 years.

Surviving are a son, Nelson Holmes of Edenton, and two daughters, Mrs. S. T. Alexander of Edenton and Mrs. C. H. Morris of Columbia. Three half brothers, Ben Cullipher of Columbia and J. W. Cullipher and James Cul-
