Gen. Ike Eisenhower Will Speak At State Farm and Home Week

Chief of Staff of Army Accepts Invitation to Visit State Aug. 28

Acceptance of an invitation to speak at Farm and Home Week, to be held on the State College campus August 25-29 has been received from Army Chief of Staff Dwight D. Eisenhower, General of the Army. The announcement of the General's appearance on the program of the annual get-together was made this week in a joint statement from Jacob M. Pickler, convention president, and John W. Goodman, assistant director of the State College Extension Service and secretary of the event.

The letter of acceptance, addressed to Mr. Pickler, follows:

"You are indeed kind to invite me to attend and to speak to the North Carolina Farmers' and Farm Women's Convention to be held in Raleigh August 27-28. It is a signal honor to be asked to meet with this representative group of North Carolina citizens and I am delighted to accept your hospitality during the evening meeting of August 28.

"Thank you for your personal thoughtfulness.

"Sincerely,
"DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER."

Present plans call for the appearance of the distinguished General at an evening session to be held in Riddick Stadium, where he will deliver an address, Mr. Goodman said.

Flue-Cured Growers Will Vote On July 12

Issue Is Assessment of 10 Cents Per Acre For Promoting Trade

A vote on the issue of whether Carolina's flue-cured tobacco growers favor an assessment of ten cents per acre for the purpose of promoting the export trade of their product is scheduled for July 12.

The main points of the special vote affecting every flue-cured tobacco grower in the state was explained this week by Director I. O. Schaub of the State College Extension Service.

Authorized by the 1947 session of the State General Assembly, the referendum has been called by the directors of newly organized Tobacco Associates, Inc., for every county in North Carolina where flue-cured tobacco is produced. The annual assessment of ten cents per acre will be effective on the 1947, 1948 and 1949 crops, Director Schaub pointed out, if the measure is approved.

A register of eligible voters will be prepared by county and community committeemen, and operators of farms on which flue-cured tobacco is being produced this year are asked to list with these officials the names and addresses of all persons sharing in the proceeds of such crops. The eligibility of any person to vote may be challenged if his name is not recorded on a registration list.

Growers will be required to vote in the community in which they live, unless no polling place is provided there. In this case, they may cast their ballots at the nearest place. Another exception is allowed for a grower who may not be in his home community or county on the day of the balloting. He may obtain a ballot at the most conveniently located polling place and cast it by signing his name to it and mailing it to the office of the county agricultural conservation committee of the county in which he is a grower.
