

Richard Badham And Henrietta U. Ragland Married In Raleigh

Vows Spoken In Christ Church Wednesday, June 11

Miss Henrietta Urquhart Ragland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Urquhart Ragland of Raleigh, and Richard Paxton Badham, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Paxton Badham of Edenton, were married Wednesday evening of last week at six o'clock in Christ Episcopal Church in Raleigh.

The Right Rev. Edwin A. Penick and the Rev. Ray Holder performed the ceremony. Dr. David Alkins, organist, furnished wedding music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory satin wedding gown, made with a peplum, long sleeves ending in points and a court train. The peplum and neckline were trimmed in seed pearls and she wore earrings, a bracelet and a brooch belonging to her great-grandmother. Her veil of French illusion was trimmed in rosepoint lace. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses, showered with small white orchids and centered with a white orchid.

Miss Mary Marshall Ragland, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Ben Rankin Morris was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. S. M. White, Mrs. John Bratton, Jr., Miss Elizabeth Grimes, Miss Betsy John West, all of Raleigh; Mrs. Edward C. Shuling of Lynchburg, Va., and Miss Harriet Whitaker of Kinston.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home for the bridal party, family and out-of-town guests.

Following the reception, the bridal couple left on a wedding trip.

Mrs. Badham attended Saint Mary's School in Raleigh and was graduated from Marjorie Webster Junior College in Washington, D. C. She is a member of the Raleigh Junior League.

Peanut Committee Meets With CCC To Plan 1947 Program

Favor Diverting Lower Grades Into the Oil Industry

With indications of a bumper 1947 peanut crop to be marketed through Commodity Credit Corporation, representatives of all segments of the peanut industry, appointed by their sectional associates, met in Washington, D. C., June 10, 11 and 13 to evolve a program that will be practical to the industry and prevent large unsaleable surpluses at the end of the crop year.

These selected representatives formed themselves into the National Peanut Industry Committee for 1947, and elected Roy Parrish of Moultrie, Ga., and past president of the National Peanut Council, chairman and Harold Smith of Washington D. C., secretary. A diversion plan was recommended which would make only the finest peanuts available for salters, confectioners and peanut butter manufacturers at a more favorable competitive price. These recommendations would result in second and lower grades being diverted into the oil industry in a more orderly manner. This would spread the supply of peanut meal over the entire year.

After studying the proposed program from all angles, Commodity Credit Corporation agreed that a program might be promulgated in which they would buy No. 2 and lower grade peanuts from shellers at a level that will enable shellers to sell No. 1 peanuts at a lower price than otherwise possible, with exact price to be established after parity price of July 15 is known.

CCC emphasized that the price of No. 1 peanuts sold by shellers cannot be under control and the program would only be offered in order to place shellers in a better position to price their peanuts on a more nearly competitive basis with other food items and at the same time offer the market a better shelled peanut.
