

Scoutin' Around

By PETER CARLTON

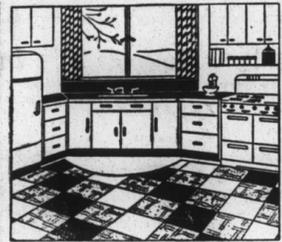

WE HAVE on hand ten Junior Red Cross certificates for first aid, awarded to those in the Edenton High School who completed the course and passed the examination. These may be had by coming to the Chamber of Commerce office in the Municipal Building.

If Mrs. Laura Rountree of Cross Roads will have someone stop in at Leggett & Davis Drug Store at any time, she will find a nice box of the best chocolates waiting for her in honor of her 77th birthday which she celebrated last Sunday.

Will the "Miss" who was "sweet sixteen" last week go to Mitchener's Pharmacy in Edenton and pick up a box of the best milk chocolates to remind her that she is only sixteen—once. We're speaking of Miss Marion Harrell, of course, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Harrell of Rocky Hock.

These "goodies" are with the compliments of the sponsors of our "Let's Be Neighborly" program which brings you news of Chowan County every Sunday over radio station WCNC, Elizabeth City, at 1:15 P. M. (1400 on your dial). The sponsors are Triangle Restaurant, Quinn Furniture Company and Campen's Jewelers—all of Edenton.

Phone calls, cards and personal comments about the radio program which have come in, or have been made in the last two weeks, are much appreciated. We're trying to make the broadcast as interesting as possible.

When a neighbor is complimented for a worthy achievement—let's really give him a hand. Not so long ago, George W. Haskett, our good friend of Elizabeth City, denounced the raw deal a Negro got over a car raffle in a nearby town. His editorial made the newspapers and magazines all over the country. Radio commentators quoted him, too. The Sunday Virginian-Pilot speaks of him as the "little man with the big voice." And that is just "our boy" George. People, the folks all around—white and colored, come to George when they want a cause espoused. On the side of right—he pulls no punches. He doesn't butt in, however, into other people's business just for the sake of gossip. Last week we were sitting in what he calls his office at the Independent in Elizabeth City, when a couple came in and asked his aid in trying to do something about finding out who tried to kill some of their relatives. It seems that the police and the SBI for some good reason have come to a standstill in their activity on the case. George looked like a "little ole Solomon"—if you could picture this little fellow with ears that stand out like saucers—as looking like a beardless, sawed-off Solomon. And whether you wanted to or not, you couldn't help but become impressed with the sympathetic understanding that he manifested. The phone rang—and his face and manner registered an entirely different mood—you gathered that he was talking to someone about whom he cared a great deal—in a different way. He was talking to his little three-year-old daughter. This is the man—George W. Haskett, editor and publisher of the Independent in Elizabeth City, the radio commentator—the man who is "of the people and for the people." A man who does not profess to be a "plaster saint"—for sometimes he is a bit strong in his choice of words—a man who is a man, despite his lack of "anatomical quantity." The power of his thought is being felt all over the nation. He is strong and dynamic proof that small town editors and small town papers, backed by small town people, can formulate the opinions of the nation. We are proud to be called "neighbor" by George W. Haskett—militant editor of the Independent in Elizabeth City.

Herbert Peele, Editor and Publisher of the Daily Advance of Elizabeth City, and President of the North Carolina Press Association, makes a plea for a united Albemarle in coming to the aid of Lost Colony Historical Association. Everyone will agree that this pageant has meant much to this part of North Carolina. Citizens of Edenton are among those who formed the group in the beginning. We know that they will not fail to come to the fore in this hour of need.

How important are the newspapers and the radio to North-eastern North Carolina? Just as important as food and air! There is need for these papers—all of them. There is need for militant editorialism in the cause of right and progress. Our papers have been making high scores in recent months, in advancing strong ideas, and in promoting (Continued on Page Six)
