

VFW Is Celebrating Its Golden Jubilee

Freedom, Happiness and Peace Is Aim of Organization

Members of the William H. Coffield, Jr., Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, are joining this week in the national celebration of the Golden Jubilee anniversary of the VFW of the United States.

Throughout the years the VFW has won the respect of the American people as the "Gold Chevron Organization" because its members have earned the right to wear gold chevrons or bars, the U. S. Army badge of overseas service in time of war.

Today, the Veterans of Foreign Wars comprises more than ten thousand posts or local units, in communities throughout the nation, in its territories and possessions. There are, in addition, some seven thousand ladies' auxiliaries.

The fighting men who compose the Veterans of Foreign Wars are the most ardent champions of preparedness. They have asked Congress to set up a defense system that will be adequate to cope with any sudden emergency.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars is holding high the banner of human liberty, of justice, of peace and understanding among all the peoples of the world. They are carrying on the crusade that had its beginning fifty years ago. They ask no more than that the American people—and the free peoples throughout the rest of the world continue to work with them—to pray with them—to die with them if need be—to preserve the God-given heritage of freedom and happiness and peace.

(Continued from Page One) his intention to alarm anyone, but that the bridge is in bad shape and it appears that an entirely new structure will have to be built. Both Evans and McKim stated that a further and more exhaustive survey of the bridge will be made, using divers, in order to determine more definitely the condition of the concrete piling.

While home over the week-end, Mr. McMullan expressed the opinion that a new bridge will cost probably two million dollars, so that financing such a project would be a problem. However, Mr. McMullan is optimistic that some method can be found to take care of an emergency such as exists at present with the bridge.

As the result of the meeting Monday with Evans and McKim, another meeting was scheduled to be held in Edenton next Monday, when Edenton, Windsor, Williamston, Hertford and Elizabeth City are expected to send representatives in order to put machinery to work in an effort to secure adequate relief.

Meeting with the highway officials Monday were G. C. Meads, Fred Webb, Roland Garrett and W. R. Noud of Elizabeth City; Mayor V. N. Darden of Hertford, and Marvin Wilson, J. H. Conger, J. W. Davis, J. Clarence Leary, C. C. Sanders, Mayor Leroy Haskett, John W. Graham and Peter Carlton of Edenton.
