

Two Chowan Boys Do Very Well In Fat Stock Show

Bezar Davenport's Steer Judged Third Best In Lightweight Class

Bezar Davenport did very well with his fat Hereford calf in the fourth annual Albemarle Fat Stock Show and Sale held in Elizabeth City last week. Bezar's steer was judged as the third best in the lightweight class. The calf weighed 775 pounds and was sold to the Hertford Livestock Company for 35 cents per pound.

Rufus Smithson, Jr., entered an Aberdeen-Angus steer, which was sold to Rodney Bateman of Columbia for 30 cents per pound.

"Both Bezar and Rufus spent a lot of time with their calves," said Assistant County Agent Robert Marsh, "and they are to be commended for their interest in their calves."

The show and sale was reported to be the most successful ever held. Thirty-eight fat steers which were fed out by 4-H and FFA Club members were entered in the event. The grand champion steer, which was fed out by Lota Leigh Harrison of Camden county, was sold for 75 cents per pound.

There were more hogs entered in the show this year than ever before. A total of 102 hogs were sold, with the lowest price being 19 1/2 cents per pound. The grand champion hog, shown by Bobby Cooper, was sold for 41 1/2 cents per pound.
