Record Poundage Tobacco Sold On Rocky Mount Mart Market Now Operating With Fifth Set of Buyers

Steadily since the opening of the Bright Belt markets, the Rocky Mount Tobacco Market has been selling a record poundage of leaf for top Belt prices, figures released by the Rocky Mount Tobacco Board of Trade indicate.

Last week prices on the Rocky market averaged $45 per hundred pounds as against the Belt average of $44.28 for the season. The market, operating this season with a fifth set of buyers, is attracting an appreciable share of the total poundage offered for the sale on the Belt. Warehousemen and farmers alike have shown satisfaction with the trend of the sales.

Poundage of leaf offered for sale in Rocky Mount last week reached a high of 1,778,432 on Friday. The quality of the leaf was a little off, however, and the sales paid out $763,272.73 for a $42.92 average. Only small amounts of tobacco remained on the warehouse floors over the week-end and holiday.

Best money day of the week was Thursday, when 1,673,798 pounds were sold for $767,593.91 averaging $45.86.

On Wednesday the Rocky Mount market sold 1,116,696 pounds of the 7,848,176 pounds offered on the Belt and topped the Belt average by $2.01. The Belt average that day was $43.32, the Rocky Mount average was $45.86.

Colonials Guests Of Edenton Rotarians

Doc Murphy Entertains Group With Humorous Skit

Edenton's Colonials were guests of the Rotary Club at last week's meeting, when 16 members of the squad enjoyed the Rotarians' weekly luncheon in the Parish House. A feature of the meeting was a humorous skit by Doc Murphy, popular third sacker, who is considered the club's wittiest player.

John A. Holmes paid tribute to the Colonial ball club as a whole, saying that not only the Rotary Club, but Edenton as a whole is proud of this year's team, not only for the brand of baseball they played, but for their exemplary conduct as individuals. He said they set a splendid example for the youth of the town.

Colonial players who attended the meeting were Manager William (Gashouse) Parker, Willis Murphy, Joe Fulghum, John Pavlich, John Bohonko, Calvin Schadel, Art Hoch, Russell Wheeler, Pete Messina, Joe Tysko, Ken Andrewsh, Bill Price and Stanley Johnson.

Each one of the players was asked to stand and give his name, the town he hails from and the position he plays.

J. Clarence Leary, Jr., was taken into the club as a new member.

Emergency Landing At Local Air Field

Experiencing difficulty when a spindler head blew off one of the motors, a Peninsula Air Transport C-46 charter plane carrying 38 passengers made an emergency landing at the Edenton Marine Air Station late Saturday afternoon. The plane had 38 passengers aboard and was enroute from Miami to New York.

The stranded plane and crew were accommodated at the base until two smaller planes arrived from New York and proceeded on their journey.
