Holley, Mrs. William Madre, Mrs. S. D. McRae and Mrs. W. E. Cox. Mrs. Cox presented a report regarding the activities of her group.

Mrs. J. E. Wood, president of the Auxiliary, presided over the meeting.

During the meeting about 15 members volunteered to donate blood for the blood bank.

Mrs. J. W. Davis presented a report on the blood program, which was very encouraging.

Miss Annie Ruth White, supervisor of nurses at Chowan Hospital, reported on the meeting of the Eighth District of the North Carolina Nurses Association which was held in Rocky Mount October 11. Miss White stated that the Brown plan and proposed laws regarding nursing education were the principal items discussed and that nurses at the Rocky Mount meeting went on record as bitterly opposing the proposed Brown plan. Miss White explained the effect the plan will have on the nursing profession throughout North Carolina and pointed out that it will increase the patient cost. If the plan is adopted, it was said, only three nursing schools in the State would be allowed to train nurses.

Nurses and officials of the Chowan Hospital are bitterly opposed to the plan.

District Six of the North Carolina Hospital Association, which embraces hospitals at Edenton, Elizabeth City, Dunn, Wilson, Tarboro, Washington, Ahoskie, Goldsboro, Greenville, Kinston, Roanoke Rapids and Rocky Mount, strongly opposes the Brown plan, and at a district meeting held in Rocky Mount on October 11 adopted the following resolution:

The representatives of the hospitals in District Six of the North Carolina Hospital Association, which District comprises twenty-three counties in the northeastern section of North Carolina, meeting at Rocky Mount, N. State DAR Regent Guest At Meeting Of Local Chapter

Miss Horne Points Out Accomplishments of Organization

At a meeting of the Edenton Tea Party Chapter of the DAR Wednesday night of last week Miss Virginia Horne of Wadesboro, State Regent, was a special guest. Mrs. Preston E. Wilkes, Jr., of Charlotte, chairman of the approved DAR schools, was also a guest at the meeting.

Mrs. J. M. Jones, Regent of the Edenton Tea Party, chapter, presided over the meeting, which was held in the chapter room of the James Iredell house. Mrs. M. F. Bond, Jr., chairman, led in the ritual.

Mrs. Jones introduced Miss Horne and Mrs. Wilkes.

In her address Miss Horne cited accomplishments of the National Society for its organization in 1890, when eighteen organizing members met to formulate a constitution and by-laws for the National Society, to the present time when the society numbers approximately one hundred and sixty-five thousand. "Foremost," Miss Horne stated, "The society fosters patriotism and love of country. And these are no idle words, as one may realize, as the society is supporting fourteen schools in the United States for underprivileged children, working actively for national defense; better citizenship among all children, including delinquent children, and maintaining physical therapy classes and workrooms in Veterans Hospitals at Ellis Island and Staten Island. In addition to chapters within the continental United States, there are chapters in all parts of the world where American women are brought together."

"The North Carolina Society," said Miss Horne, was organized in 1900 and will celebrate its Golden Jubilee in 1950 at Charlotte where the first State chapter was organized.

Miss Horne urged all members to attend the Golden Jubilee and stated that souvenir pamphlets containing the history of the society would be given to each member. Golden souvenir spoons carrying the D. A. R. insignia, commemorating the event will be sold, the profit from which the State Society will be petitioned to contribute to the restoration of Tryon's Palace at New Bern.

The restoration of Tryon's Palace will perhaps be the greatest restorative undertaking of the North Carolina Society. Toward this project Mrs. Latham of Greensboro has contributed $250,000.00 and has made a collection of antiques, passed upon by the curator of the Metropolitan Museum, valued at $80,000.00 for future purchase to be used at Tryon Palace. This collection is being housed at Williamsburg awaiting restoration of the Palace, and may be seen there by anyone interested.

Following Miss Howe's remarks, Mrs. Wilkes presented a short resume of the aims and achievement of Crossnore, a school supported by the Daughters of the American Revolution operated for underprivileged boys and girls of the mountain section of North Carolina.

Miss Emily Smithwick and Mrs. George Mack acted as hostesses and served light refreshments.

Indians Hold One Game Lead Over Aces Since Year 1926

Edenton's Aces will face an old rival, the Perquimans Indians, on Hicks Field Friday night when homecoming will be observed by the Edenton school. Due to the keen rivalry existing between the two schools dating back to 1926, a large crowd of Edenton and Hertford fans are expected to be on hand.

While the Indians have a slight edge in games won, the Aces have won the last four games played, so that to date the Indians have won 12 games, the Aces 11 and three games resulted in tie scores.
