

The Chowan Herald

Published every Thursday by The Chowan Herald, a partnership consisting of J. Edwin Bufflap and Hector Lupton, at 423-425 South Broad Street, Edenton, N. C.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One Year $2.00
Six Months $1.25
J. EDWIN BUFFLAP, Editor
HECTOR LUPTON, Advertising Manager
Entered as second-class matter August 30, 1934, at the Post Office at Edenton, North Carolina, under the act of March 3, 1879.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1950.

THIS WEEK'S BIBLE THOUGHT
THE MESSIAH PROMISED: I will declare the decree: the Lord hath said unto me, Thou art my Son; this day have I begotten thee. Ask of Me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession.—Psalms 2:7,8.

Excellent Group Of Workers

With the March of Dimes completed, announcement is made this week that the 1950 Red Cross fund-raising drive will begin next Wednesday, March 1, the quota this year for Chowan County being $2,650.

Of course, with one drive just finished there might be some reluctance on the part of some people to make another contribution. But in scanning over the organization, the drive has back of it some of the best workers obtainable. The Herald hopes the quota will be reached this year, but if it isn't, it will hardly be the fault of the group of canvassers and other officials connected with the drive. They do, however, need the cooperation and contributions of the rank and file to make the drive a success.

Deserves Patronage

For almost a year now Lloyd Norfleet, a blind colored man, by aid of the Edenton Lions Club has been operating a business of his own on Oakum Street. The Lions secured a frame shack, where he repairs chairs, thus keeping himself off the charity list.

With such determination and desire to be on his own, this enterprising Negro deserves the patronage of both white and colored people.

There are many people who are less handicapped than Lloyd Norfleet who look to the county for their subsistence.

What Every Woman . . .

An American version of "What Every Woman Knows" has just been enacted in "real life" in La Crosse, Wisconsin. Sir James Barrie's thesis that a woman is back of every man's success has taken, however, a new twist in La Crosse. And fairness is served thereby.

In this story, the cause of the success of the "Man of the Year" is a woman, but so is the "Man of the Year." Mrs. Alf Gundersen won that title and a plaque awarded by the Chamber of Commerce for distinction in local civic affairs.

Some may say that the La Crosse chamber should never have assumed that the only persons likely to qualify for the award would be men. The chances are, however, that the chamber never assumed anything of the sort. Being largely composed of male members, it momentarily forgot the existence of the opposite sex.

But one must admit that the male element in this case has made handsome amends. For it has not only admitted that a woman is the "person of the year" but even permitted that person to be called the "man" of the year. The male of the species may err but its repentance is always truly touching.

And that, too, is what every woman knows.—Christian Science Monitor.

HEARD & SEEN

By "BUFF"

I lost my nerve Thursday of last week—yes, sir, I lost my nerve! Several colored men were busy as bees cutting down trees and bushes at the Cupola House while some of the ladies sat complacently on the porch. I walked over with the intention of saying what some of 'em have said to me on various occasions about trees, but . . . yep, I lost my nerve. Anyway, some of the old bushes are gone and the yard looks sort o' bare, but a truck was parked in front of the Cupola House filled with all kinds of bushes and shrubbery, which will replace those which were cut down. Oh, well, it all goes to show that it is simply the way one looks at things in connection with improving the old town.

When it comes to persistency, Mayor Leroy Haskett has it. The other day he went home with an armful of chitterlings and visioned a good square meal. But the Missus promptly threw a monkey wrench in the works when she stumped her foot on the floor and said, "You're not going to cook those things in my kitchen." The Mayor pouted as his spirits dropped and after sitting around for a while with his chin hanging on his chest, he gathered the things together and went to his farm. There in the open he dumped the things in a big iron kettle, gathered some wood and proceeded to cook them. His mouth watered and every once in a while he used a stick to pick out a hunk to taste. In fact, he went through that procedure so often that when the bloomin' things should have been cooked, there were no more left in the kettle. But he came home all smiles, for he had a belly full of chitterlings. Nope, I haven't been hungry enough or worked up enough nerve to taste the things up to now. For my part, they can give 'em back to the hogs. I'll take mine in ham. And incidentally, Edgar Pearce thought I didn't hear him the other night when he said he was going to give me a mess one of these days.

And speaking about ham, the ladies who feed the Rotarians pulled a surprise the other Thursday. It isn't unusual for them to pass around potatoes, beans or other things on the menu a second time, but country ham is closely guarded. However, much to my and other Rotarians' surprise a plate full of ham made its way around the table. Very few of the boys let the plate pass by, so I'm not the only one who likes good ole country ham.

Every now and then I read something about movements on foot to curb moving pictures deemed unfit for children (some of 'em are not fit for adults). But while in Richmond over the week-end I attended a movie and I've about come to the conclusion that the movie industry should sponsor a school to teach players in western pictures to shoot straight. Why I saw some guys on the screen shooting up a storm at close range and not a single one dropped from his horse. It just don't make sense. They ought to use pop-guns.

Mrs. William Sexton presented her husband a real Valentine on February 14 in way of a bouncing baby boy. Bill celebrated by going fishing. He didn't go fishing for fish, however, but fished around to get up enough bucks to pay the Doc. That's four youngsters for Bill and he hasn't shelled out a single cigar. What's he figuring on doing—wait until he owes me a whole box? Then Joe Conger, Jr., should take along a box of cigars at the Rotary meeting today, for he, too, is now a pappy.

Speaking of eating, the youngsters in the Primary Department of the Methodist Church School were served light refreshments the other Sunday morning in their classes. Gosh, maybe they're getting around to serving something to eat at church services. That ought to bring some of 'em out, especially on Sunday nights.

Edenton Lions Club Proud Of Its Baby Club At Colerain

New Club Expected to Be One of Most Active In Area

When John Campbell and his hardy pioneering followers set sail from their home on the River Bann in Ireland some 300 years ago, they were seeking a domicile in the new world comparable to the one they were leaving.

Yes, they sought a home situated upon a beautiful river, which might abound in various species of fishes, such as shad, herring, rock et cetera, similar to the ones they were departing from.

This they finally found on the banks of the Chowan River in what is now Bertie County. They moored their vessels and came ashore to prospect. So pleased were they with this lovely spot that they decided to settle there. They named it Colerain in honor of its Irish counterpart.

Recently the membership of the Lions Club in Edenton decided that Colerain should have a club, not only for the purpose of fraternizing with fellow Lions in this entire Albemarle territory, but perhaps that also it might be a fine thing for them to acquire an acquaintance with their Lion cousins in the Irish metropolis.

Consequently, West Leary, zone chairman, Leroy Haskett and several other members of the Edenton Club went over the river and conversed with a group of representative citizens at Colerain.

As a result of these efforts, Colerain can now boast being the "cub" Lions Club in this zone and the Edenton Club can be justly proud of the accomplishment, for the people of Colerain never do things by halves.

Under the guiding hand of International Counsellor Norman Trueblood, the Colerain club became a reality last Thursday night, at which time they elected their officers.

There are 19 charter members and the club plans a charter night program on April 7th. The club will meet on the first and third Tuesday of each month at the Colerain Community Building at 6:30 o'clock.

President Hector Lupton of the Edenton Club expressed his gratitude over the success of this undertaking, at the regular meeting of the local organization Monday evening and predicted that Colerain will become one of the most progressive aggregations in

FOR STATE LEGISLATURE

Mrs. Josie Ruth (Wheeler) Carr, a native of Chowan County and Edenton, and a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John R. Wheeler of Edenton.

I am glad to have this opportunity, as a woman, to bid to serve Chowan County, which has done so much for me. I would like to serve because:

1. I believe in Chowan and its form of government.
2. I am proud of its past history and have great faith in its future.
3. I think, with my experience as a teacher and interest in civic affairs, I could do much to further good government.
4. I believe that women should take a practical interest in government.
5. I would desire, if elected, close contact with the people to know their desires on pending legislation.

In all humbleness I ask your vote. It will be appreciated.

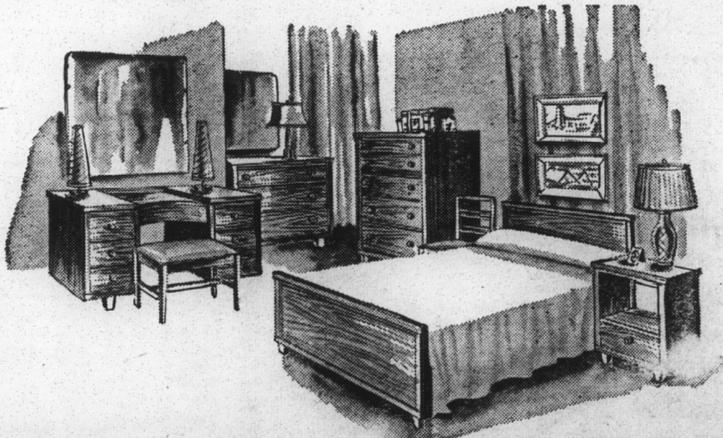

— These Are —

SOLID SAVINGS

CHOWAN PACKED Herring Roe 15-oz. Can 39c	DROMEDARY FANCY Grapefruit Juice 2 No. 2 Cans 29c
DEL MONTE EARLY GARDEN Asparagus Spears, No. 2 can 42c
FRESH ROASTED Luzianne Coffee 3-lb. Can $1.89	LIBBY'S GARDEN SWEET Peas No. 303 Can 19c
DEL MONTE—IN GLASS DICED CARROTS—Size 303 2 for 19c
ABBITT'S MEAL 10 lbs. 59c
GROUND BLACK PEPPER . . 1½-oz. can 29c
STRAINED CLAPP'S BABY FOOD 3 for 29c
AIRLINE PINEAPPLE PIE FILLING 1-lb. jar 34c
KINGAN'S RELIABLE TRIPE 1½-lb. can 45c
PHTHISIC'S HOME-MADE LINK SAUSAGE—Medium and Hot, lb. 55c
OYSTERS: STANDARD, pint 59c SELECT, pint 69c
SWIFT'S SELECT T-BONE AND ROUND STEAK, lb. . . . 89c
CLOPOY quart bottle 19c
OXYDOT, package 25c

Pht'hisic's Grocery
EDENTON-HERTFORD HIGHWAY PHONE 470

SPECIAL FEATURE!

MODERN That Is Simple and Smart

We purchased these bedroom groups from a factory noted for the beauty of the fine veneers it uses, and the fine workmanship which is seldom found in a suite at this price. Large mirrors and unusual drawer pulls are worth noting.

We Have These Suites In Two Finishes — Grey and Ermine
FOUR PIECES — ONLY $13.25 DOWN PAYMENT $2.00 PER WEEK
$109.95
A LIMITED NUMBER AT THIS SPECIAL PRICE!

Quinn Furniture Company
EDENTON, N. C.

COLERAIN

CONTEST TO EVER

Unlike other scholars limited to students, scholarships are open regardless of race or . . .

"Parents can win for older people can win for friends or relatives, or scholarship money for own education," Mr. president, pointed out high school and college insure themselves the lege training."

Enter FREE, and if you wish, from now March 31, 1950. I strongly urges every advantage of this spectacular opportunity!

100 PRIZES in
Twenty Cash Scholarships Britannica and 70 Prizes North and South Carolina awarded in Virginia in cash immediately

- 1st Prize — $100
- 2nd Prize — $50
- 3rd Prize — $25
- 4th Prize — $10
- 5th Prize — $5
- 6th to 20th Prizes — $2.50
- 21st to 30th Prizes — $1.00
- 31st to 100 Prizes — $0.50

