

Town Considering Buying Gas And Oil In Bulk Quantity

Belief Is That Considerable Saving Will Be Realized

Town Councilmen at Tuesday night's meeting considered bulk buying gasoline and oil for the various rolling equipment belonging to the town. For many years it has been the practice to buy gasoline and oil at regular intervals from the filling stations, but it is the belief that by buying and installing a tank a saving will be effected.

The tank, if the policy is adopted, will be placed near the Police Station and a record kept of every gallon pumped out.

W. J. Yates and J. Edwin Bufflap were appointed to contact the various oil companies to see what sort of a deal can be worked out.

While he is in New Bern Mr. Jordan will serve in the following capacities, to name a few: estimator for timber management plan, member of prescribed burning crew, member of fire suppression crew, radio operator, assistant map draftsman, weather forecaster and lookout guard. The course is guaranteed to keep him busy.

Civil Service and University rules prohibit any trainee from putting in over 130 working days per year and no trainee must receive over $925 per year for his efforts.

And in order to be acceptable for this program a student must have the following qualifications: he must have completed one year of study, he must be recommended by the Dean or Director as being physically and mentally fit to be a professional forester, he must have a good academic standing, and he must have available alternates for his classes.

Mr. Jordan is scheduled for a five month stint at the Nantahala National Forest office in the summer of 1951.

PERSONAL ITEMS

Miss Charlotte Leary, a student at Averett College, Danville, Va., will arrive Thursday to spend the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. West Leary. She will be accompanied home by Miss Joyce Hardcraft of Flushing, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Lance Bufflap spent the week-end visiting J. Edwin and Miss Dorothy Bufflap. Lance Bufflap will on Monday go to Forest City, where he accepted a new position.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SUSTAINING FAITH

International Sunday School Lesson for March 19, 1950

Lesson Text: Acts 26: 19-23; Romans 5: 1-8; Hebrews 12: 1-2.

Our scripture reference breaks into a very dramatic situation. Paul is before King Agrippa, telling of his transforming vision on the road to Damascus. Then, he goes on to relate the effect his vision had on his life and work and, in doing so, revealed the heart of the Christian religion.

The Apostle Paul's experience began with a vision of the Living Christ, a vision which led to heroism and endurance. George A. Gordon, in the Revelation and the Ideal, declares: Everywhere today hosts of God's people need the faith that sustained the apostle. A vision means the end for which a good man lives. Paul's vision was heavenly, and he pursued it to the last breath of his life. His vision sets him apart and makes him worthy of lifelong study. The strength, the continuity, and the passion of his devotion to the ideal lent distinction to his career. We wish to know about his vision and its value for men today."

The vision of Christ became the foundation stone of a sustaining faith for Paul. This dynamic faith changed him from a persecutor to one persecuted. The name of Jesus, which he had cursed, became more precious to him than life itself.

What was the character of the faith that sustained Paul? Bolstered by that faith, he had the courage with

Youth Revival At Rocky Hock Church

Ralph Harrell One of Speakers In Series Of Meetings

Announcement is made of a youth conducted revival to be held at the Rocky Hock Baptist Church Friday and Saturday night, March 17 and 18, and coming to a close Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The two night services will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

The series of meetings, will be conducted by students from Wake Forest College and will include the following: Ray Hodge, an ordained minister from Kenly, N. C., Tom Tobey, a ministerial student from Salem, Va., Max Eller, a ministerial student from Statesville, N. C., and Ralph Harrell from Edenton.

These meetings have been planned in cooperation with the pastor, the Rev. Edward Gordon and interested members of the church. The series of meetings are expected to attract a large number of people.

stand all kinds of persecution and to stand before kings to proclaim his belief in Jesus Christ. Paul's faith was one that grew out of his knowledge of the holy scriptures—Moses and the prophets. We must remember that Paul was well learned in the scriptures of his day, being a Pharisee. With the help of the Holy Spirit, he had come to see that all the marks of the long Promised Messiah of the Old Testament were to be found in Jesus.

In the book of Romans, particularly the passage given for our consideration, Paul, the theologian, the chief interpreter of Christianity, is dealing with the problem of sin and how the sinner can get right with God and keep right with him. This "rightness" alone brings peace. William James, the psychologist, once wrote about a man "consciously right, superior, happy" who, by faith, becomes "consciously right, superior happy." Such faith means trusting God for deliverance through belief in Christ and acceptance of salvation through his death on the cross.

The life of a Christian is not a bed of roses, warns Paul. Paul had learned through tribulations of many and varied sorts, that God had used troubles to make him a better man. Sorrow or suffering may sweeten and ennoble, or it may embitter and harden. The effect depends on the individual himself or herself. Christ died for the ungodly. He accepted suffering in order that all those who believed in him might escape the suffering and punishment for their sins.

Paul's sustaining faith was the result of experience. Having met Jesus on the Damascus road, Paul knew, from that time on that Jesus was risen from the dead and was the divine Son of God. For him, it was not speculation, it was fact. No faith is worth having that does not stem from actual experience. We should remember, however, that experience differs for each individual. For most of us there is no climatic event like that which convinced Paul of the truth of Christ. Our assurance comes from trusting Jesus and finding that He is always by our side, to help us in every hour of need. The words of the hymn, "Just When I Need Him, Jesus is Near," are good to keep in mind, as we run the race of life. The author of Hebrews, using the symbol of the old athletic races as typical as the Christian's life, suggests that, using the faith that sustains, we should persevere to the end, looking always unto "Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith."
