

4-H Week Observed In Chowan Schools

Chapel Programs During Week Feature of Observance

Chapel programs were held in each of the county schools last week in observance of National 4-H Club Week. These chapel programs were planned by the club members and were apparently enjoyed by the entire student body in all the schools.

One week is set aside for the observance of National 4-H Club Week every year. The purpose of this observance is to better acquaint the parents of 4-H club members, local leaders and the general public with 4-H Club work and its importance to rural life in America.

The 4-H Club had its origin in the State of North Carolina more than a quarter of a century ago. It grew from a small corn club, organized by a group of rural boys, into the largest youth organization in the world. In the State of North Carolina alone there are 1,800 individual clubs and more than 93,000 club members. Since its origin, the 4-H Club has taught rural boys and girls the latest and best practices in agriculture and home economics.

The 4-H Club is set up on a school, county, state and national basis. Club work begins in the school with a group of organized students having their own officers, this terminating into a county council made up of the officers of the different school clubs and having its own staff of officers. Then there is the State Council, made up of the officers of the County Council officers. The State Council has its own staff of officers and is under the leadership of the State 4-H leaders. The national 4-H leaders are selected from a level of state and national winners in project work and are sent to the National 4-H Congress held in Chicago each year. Thus, the 4-H Club work becomes a part of the lives of rural young people while they are young and learning the art of living.

JOHN DEERE
TWO-CYLINDER
ENGINE DESIGN

Cornerstone of Greater Tractor Value
for 25 YEARS

John Deere two-cylinder engine design was born with the introduction of the first tractor to bear the John Deere name—the Model "D"—back in 1924.

Right from the start, the simple, rugged construction of that tractor proved itself. Here was unequalled simplicity and strength through fewer, heavier parts . . . easier maintenance through greater accessibility. Here was husky farm power that won immediate popularity with farmers everywhere . . . that set new standards for tractor dependability, economy, and long life.

These same basic advantages are just as important in a tractor today as they were a quarter-century ago. They're yours to enjoy, yours to profit by, along with every modern operating feature, when you choose a John Deere. See us soon.

Here is the John Deere Model "A" Tractor, a favorite on large row-crop farms. Available with either all-fuel or gasoline engine.
