SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Some fanciers of the Weimaraner insist that it is nothing less than a miracle dog, able to do everything done by other breeds—only much better. On the other hand, critics of the Weimaraner say that even the best examples of the breed are no more than ordinary performers in the field.

If anyone is in a position to explain the general confusion concerning the true merits of the Weimaraner, Clarence Schukei of Waterloo, Iowa, is the man. He has imported, bred and hunted over the "gray ghosts." Here is what he writes about them:

"What has created all of this confusion is that the Weimaraner has been terrifically oversold in this country. It always has been a grand hunting dog. But it has had too many fanciful build-ups. Buyers have expected impossible miracles, then been disappointed. "There is another serious situation. The Weimaraner's affectionate nature and beautiful appearance have attracted many people who have no intention at all of hunting the dog. They simply want one for a pet. As a result, this fine hunting dog has been degenerating into a mere bench-show exhibit. Sportsmen must now make every effort to keep the Weimaraner where it belongs—hunting in the field. "We Weimaraner fanciers have no quarrel with other breeds. Our dogs will simply do what the other breeds do when properly trained—but more of it. When you take a dog that will locate and point upland game birds and retrieve them; sit in a duck blind and retrieve migratory birds from water—then you have a combination that many dogs cannot equal.

The Weimaraner is an all-around hunting dog—something that can't be said about other breeds. It will trail, point, retrieve, and has speed that equals the average English pointers."

So we see that the Weimaraner is neither a miracle nor a fraud—but a fine dog in the field when trained. And in the field is where they rightfully belong—not as a part of a living room decor.

Folder On Dairying Edited By Extension

A new Extension Folder entitled "Links in the Chain to Better Dairying" and prepared by R. L. Wynn, Negro Extension specialist, came off the press this week, according to F. H. Jeter, editor of the State College Extension Service.

The folder presents in picture-story form the essentials of good dairying. Some of the features portrayed by Wynn are a safe water supply, mastitis-free cows, sanitation, and clean, tight milking barns.

Care of cows and milk isn't the only essential, according to Wynn. A good Ladino pasture is also necessary in providing a cheap, economical source

First of the Fine Cars in Value

Even Wiser than He Seems

PLAINLY, here travels a man wise in the ways of fine motorcars.

You know that, by the four Ventiports and the rich sweep of chrome which mark his car as a ROADMASTER.

You know it, should you trail him on the highway, by the smooth lift of the big Fireball power plant at his toe's command, by the obvious levelness of the ride he enjoys, the swift ease with which Dynaflo Drive solves his traffic problems.

What is not so plain from what you see is that here also is a man very wise in what today's dollar should buy!

For this man has all that a fine-car owner can ask for—brilliant performance, a ride without equal for gentle softness, finger-easy handling, abundant room all around him, styling that is easily the most distinguished on the highway.

Yet he paid considerably less than comparable merit costs elsewhere.

He found fewer extra charges in his delivered price, with such things as Dynaflo Drive, foam rubber cushions, windshield washers, electric clock, even non-glare rear-view mirror included in the price.

If you know fine cars, it won't take fifteen minutes behind a ROADMASTER wheel to see that here is one of the finest.

If you have inquired about prices, a single glance at the delivered figures establishes this as the big buy of the field.

Why not make both checks—especially since your Buick dealer will be glad to arrange a trial run in a ROADMASTER any time you care to call on him?

Only BUICK has Dynaflo-DRIVE
