

Goodly Number Of Farmers Hear Swine Discussion Parasites Said to Cause More Loss Than Diseases

A farmers' meeting on the subject, "What the Hog Grower Can Do About Controlling Diseases and Parasites" was held at the Chowan Community Building Friday night with approximately 50 farmers attending. This meeting was held in cooperation with the Chowan County Farm Bureau, Jack Kelly, Extension animal husbandryman, and Dr. H. M. Matthis of Wilson, a practicing veterinarian, conducted a most interesting and informative discussion. Dr. Matthis pointed out that while swine diseases cause considerable loss to hog growers, the loss by parasites amounts to considerably more than twice that caused by diseases. He explained how the hog grower can very largely eliminate the loss by parasites through a swine sanitation program. This means have brood sows farrow on clean temporary pastures, de-worm pigs at about 8 weeks of age and keeping these growing pigs on worm free pastures until they are 4 months of age. He also pointed out many other things the hog grower can do to greatly reduce the parasite trouble.

CALLED TO SISTER'S BEDSIDE
Miss Martha McClenney left Edenton Sunday to be at the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Dan Cannady, who is a patient in DePaul Hospital, Norfolk, Va.

Mrs. Cannady is a former Edentonian and the mother of Buddy Cannady, popular Edenton High School senior.

Volunteers Sought For Blood Donors

fee at the hospital, for the administering of the blood. It has been pointed out that a pint of blood from a person who sells it would run around $35 per pint and no charge, or any charge even close to that amount, has ever been fixed on any patient receiving blood under the program.

A look at the figures can prove to anyone the value of this program already to Edenton and Chowan County patients. The county has donated 228 pints of blood during the three previous visits. The county has used, through September 25, 175 1/2 pints of the 228 they contributed—and used it absolutely free of charge. There has never been, and there never will be, under the program, a charge for the blood. Anyone who needs it is given it absolutely free. On hand at the Chowan Hospital at all times are several pints of blood of each type to meet any emergency. Should an emergency arise where a particular type blood is required that may have been used up before a new shipment arrives, this blood is sent immediately from the blood center in Norfolk by the highway patrol of the two states at no cost.

Miss Frances Tillett, superintendent of the hospital, is wholeheartedly in favor of the program. Recently she told a member of the press that she was "for the blood program in every way. It's free and its readily available. All the doctors I have talked to in regard to this program, and I've talked with the vast majority of them not only in Edenton but elsewhere, are wholeheartedly in favor of it, too. It's a great saving for a patient to be able to get this blood when needed absolutely free. And, any statements which may have been made by anyone to the effect that blood has been needed them, or that they have been charged for it, are unfounded."

The bloodmobile will visit Edenton Tuesday, November 7. It will be quartered at the Parish House on West Gale Street as before, and as usual will have a complete, experienced staff accompanying it as well as the assistance of local people.

Mrs. Kermit L. Layton was general chairman for the party and desires to thank all who in any way contributed to the wonderful success. She says she is unable to personally thank all who had a part, but especially appreciates the work of members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Varsity Club. Her thanks also go to H. A. Campen, who "engineered" the party; Gashouse Parker and John Pavlich, who put in long hours in arranging the booths and portions of the field. Mrs. Layton also appreciates the work of the Edenton Water Department and Jimmy Manning, who was a great help in attending to the lighting effects.
