Worth The Effort

Whatever project any organization in Edenton has sponsored in the past, The Herald doubts very much if any is more commendable and worthwhile than the annual Halloween party sponsored by the Edenton Junior Woman's Club. The party each year becomes more popular and more and more children join in having a good time.

It is estimated that close to 1,500 youngsters joined in the parade and festivities at Hicks Field Tuesday night, where they all apparently had a wonderful time. Not only the children, but many parents and adult friends also enjoy the celebration.

Time was when Edenton citizens generally regretted to see Halloween roll around, for it meant many acts of devilry, and in many cases downright damage to property as boys and girls went about town to play pranks on anybody in their path. This form of Halloween celebration has practically passed from the scene in Edenton and in its place boys and girls don all kinds of costumes, march to Hicks Field, where they are treated to free refreshments, as well as other forms of entertainment.

To be sure, a great deal of hard work and sacrifice is required on the part of the ladies and those who help them, but when one witnesses a celebration such as was staged Tuesday night, this effort and hard work should be well repaid by seeing a large group of happy boys and girls laughing, rollicking and having a good time in general, and at the same times places them in an environment which eliminates the temptation to ramble about town to torment folks and in many cases cause inconvenience and damage.

The annual Halloween party is a very worthwhile project and The Herald hopes it will continue for many years to come.

Vandals At Work

Attention of the writer has been called to a piece of downright vandalism at the James Iredell property on East Church Street. Back of the Iredell home several young pecan trees have been practically ruined by somebody who apparently purposely broke the main branches in order to secure pecans, not yet ripe, or for downright devilishness.

Members of the Edenton Tea Party Chapter of the DAR, who purchased the property, have gone a long way to improve the appearance, so that it is now a place of beauty. The ladies are keenly interested in enhancing the beauty of the historic shrine and for somebody to purposely damage the young pecan trees is equivalent to stabbing them in the back.

At this season of the year when pecans on the town's trees are nearing the maturity stage, there are some people who annually take it upon themselves to gather as many of the pecans as possible. To secure these nuts, there are those who have no regard whatever about the care of trees. To break a beautiful limb means nothing to them so long as they can get a few nuts.

Practically all of the pecan trees along our streets belong to the town, and nobody has any right to damage any tree in order to gather the nuts. In fact, a town ordinance was passed some years ago in order to protect these trees from damage. On the books will be found this ordinance:

Trees and Shrubbery—It shall be unlawful for any person to climb or throw sticks, or missiles in pecan trees or in any manner damage any tree or shrubbery. Fine of $50.00 or 30 days in jail.

Roger Scheifer, one of Edenton's Boy Scouts is in quite a dilemma. He wanted to buy Johnnie Goodwin's Boy Scout knapsack, but Johnnie didn't want to sell it. However, he loaned it to Roger to go on a trip last week. The knapsack was placed in the back of Sid Campen's car and on the way home from Bandon fell out of the car. All efforts to find the thing have failed and it's hard to tell which regrets it most, Roger or Johnnie. Anyway, if anybody has found the knapsack, with Johnnie's initials on it, and a lot of Roger's clothes, both guys will be happy if it is returned.

It looks as though the square dance season is here. The Red Men sponsored a dance Saturday night in the armory and are now planning to hold another dance. The Junior Woman's Club will hold its annual Thanksgiving square dance in the armory on Tuesday, November 21. Then out at Eason's Place at Small's Cross Roads a square dance is held every Saturday night, with music furnished by the Rocky Hock Plow Boys. Figures are called by Pruden Forehand and I understand a lot of people have a lot of fun at every dance.

Here's one who thoroughly enjoyed the Junior Woman's Club's Halloween party Tuesday night. In fact, I don't see where all the kids came from. As one lady remarked, "With so many kids in Edenton, there should be very little income tax paid."

Then take Gashouse Parker, who worked like a Trojan to get the park in shape. To see the kids have such a good time, he said, was just as much pleasure to him as to hit a home run with the bases loaded when the Colonials needed a couple of runs to win a baseball game.

Many a thought is born while a person is sipping a cup of coffee, so the other night as a fellow seemed to be in a trance while drinking coffee, a waiter in a local restaurant asked, "What are you thinking so seriously about?" The fellow replied, "I'm thinking how to make a living without working." The waiter promptly replied, "Well, I can't give you any advice at all." A lot of us would like very much to do the same thing, eh what?

Christmas isn't so far away and little Bobby Powell doesn't want to be forgotten. Late last week I received a letter from him addressed "Santa Claus, North Pole." Bobby asked for two guns, a bow and arrow with a target and a black holster. He also asked for an electric train, so Santa will not have to bother much about what to bring Bobby. It will not be long now before the Christmas spirit begins to take hold.

Carroll Boyce, who lives in Norfolk now, became a daddy on Monday of last week. He drops in occasionally and here's a reminder for him to fill up his pockets with cigars when he makes his next trip to Edenton. Grandma Mrs. Ethel Boyce is happy over the fact of being grandmother again, but she's not passing out cigars.

Speaking about Christmas, payments in the Bank of Edenton's Christmas Clubs will end next Monday. No more payments in the 1950 Clubs will be accepted after that date, so if you want the full amount of what you expected when you started, better chase to the bank and pay up pronto.

Chowan County's Skeet Club is planning a big turkey shoot at its range on Thursday, November 16, when a truck load of turkeys and a few hams will go to good shooters. The shoot will differ with playing golf, for targets will be shot at and the proof of marksmanship will be registered on the card. Playing golf, a guy has to take the word of the other guy—and, oh brother, how some scores would change were they registered as the strokes are made.

I was in a pickle Friday night when I went to Raleigh to see the Masonic and Methodist Orphanages play their annual football game. I'm interested in both orphanages, so I didn't know which team to root for. The Methodists easily won the game, and to see the boys play should make everybody have a warm feeling in their hearts for the work done by orphanages.

Masons Treated To Oyster Roast Tonight

Affair Will Follow Regular Meeting Starting At 7:30 O'clock

A treat is in store for local Masons tonight (Thursday) when an oyster roast will be held at the Halsey Hardwood Company. The regular meeting will start in the lodge room at 7:30 o'clock instead of 8, when Robert Peigh, grand senior deacon of the Grand Lodge of Masons, will make a brief address. C. F. Seifert, recorder of Sudan Temple, will also make a few remarks.

Immediately after the meeting the group will adjourn to the Halsey Hardwood Company, where steamed oysters will be served. The program was arranged by H. A. Campen, who is program chairman during the current attendance contest, which is attracting a large number of Masons at the weekly meetings.

Inspection Made Of Bees In Chowan

Most Colonies Found to Be In Good Shape For Winter

Beekeeping demonstrations were visited last week by County Agent C. W. Overman and Mr. Stephen, Extension beekeeper. In general, most colonies were found to be of medium to good strength with an ample food supply for wintering. Several colonies were found to be weakening and the food supply inadequate to carry them through the winter.

It is most important that every beekeeper examine his colony now and determine whether they have ample food stored for the winter. A colony should have at least one broad chamber and one extra shallow super filled with honey to carry them through.

otherwise the weaker should be fed from one to two gallons of sugar syrup within the next 30 days. These weaker colonies should be examined monthly on warm days during the winter season to see that they have ample food and when the food runs low fed additional syrup.

Harrell Gas & Coal Co. Relieved Of Money

Thieves or a thief sometime during Thursday night broke into a rear window of The Herald office and proceeded to the door of the Harrell Gas & Coal Company, where a quantity of money was stolen from a desk drawer. The guilty party was evidently well acquainted with both places of business for in each case a small hook on the Herald window and the door to the Harrell Gas & Coal Company were pulled out.

Nothing was disturbed in The Herald office and only the money at the Harrell Gas & Coal Company was taken. No clues were left, so that no arrests have yet been made.

Rev. R. N. Carroll Due To Return This Week

The Rev. R. N. Carroll, pastor of the Baptist Church, is scheduled to return this week-end from his vacation in Tennessee, where he and Mrs. Carroll have spent the past three weeks. He will preach both services Sunday.

The public is cordially invited to the regular schedule of services for the week: Sunday School at 9:45 Sunday morning; morning worship service at 11 o'clock; Training Union, at 6:15 each Sunday night; evening worship service at 7:30; mid-week prayer service at 7:30 each Wednesday night; Bible study hour at 7:30 each Friday night.
