

Ocean Highway's Folders Off Press

1951 Map Folder Now Available Free to Public

Just off the press and ready to guide Florida bound, or southbound, motorists from frozen pines to sun bathed palms, is the new greatly enlarged 1951 issue of the popular Ocean Hiway four-color map folder, made available to the public without charge by its sponsors, the Ocean Hiway Association.

According to an announcement from association headquarters here, the 1951 map folder is 24 x 18 inches overall, folded to 4 x 9 inches, nearly twice as large as any previous issue; and it is the most complete and informative ever published by the association in its 16 years of operation.

"The motorist going to Florida this winter will need no other map than ours from the time he leaves home until he gets back," says Captain L. H. Garrison, president of the Ocean Hiway Association. "The 1951 issue will serve every highway need of the motorist enroute to Florida, in Florida, and on the return trip."

The new Ocean Hiway map folder contains 24 printed panels, which include a six-panel map of the main Ocean Hiway route from New York to Florida, a four-panel map of Florida, five area traffic maps and four easy-to-read mileage tables. Also, it contains interesting descriptive matter about the member cities on the route, lists outstanding things of historical value or beauty to see and gives a complete list of inspected, approved and recommended places to stop, dine, and shop, such as hotels, motor courts, restaurants, service stations and unusual shops.

The 1951 issue of the Ocean Hiway map folder is now available for free distribution to the motoring public. A copy may be obtained promptly by writing to Wm. T. Schwartz, Secretary-Treasurer, Ocean Hiway Association, P. O. Box 1552, Wilmington, Delaware.
