

Banking Holiday Tuesday, Dec. 26

Gov. W. Kerr Scott Issues Proclamation Ordering Closing

W. H. Gardner, executive vice-president of the Bank of Edenton, has been notified that Tuesday, December 26, will be observed as a banking holiday, so that the local bank will be closed from Saturday, December 23, until Wednesday morning, December 27.

The Tuesday holiday was voted by a majority of the officers and members of the Executive Committee of the North Carolina Bankers Association, who authorized the executive secretary to request the Governor to declare Tuesday, December 26, 1950, a banking holiday.

Governor W. Kerr Scott, accordingly, issued a proclamation, in which he said:

"Whereas, December 25, 1950, Christmas Day, a State and National holiday, falls on Monday; and

"Whereas, by general consent, many businesses will enjoy Tuesday, December 26, 1950, as a holiday; and

"Whereas, a request has been made by representatives of the banking interests of the State that Tuesday, December 26, 1950, be declared a banking holiday.

"Now, Therefore, I, W. Kerr Scott, Governor of North Carolina, by and with the advice and consent of the Council of State, under and by virtue of authority of Section 53-77 of the General Statutes of North Carolina, do hereby designate Tuesday, December 26, 1950, as a banking holiday. During such period of holiday, all of the ordinary and usual operations and business of all banking corporations, State or National, in this State, shall be suspended, and during such period no banking corporation shall pay out or receive deposits, make loans or discounts, transfer credits, or transact any other banking business whatsoever except such acts as are authorized by the aforesaid law."
