

Over 35,000 Cows Bred Artificially

Number Is More Than Twice as Many as Two Years Ago

Estimates made this week by dairy specialists at State College indicate that the number of dairy cows bred artificially in North Carolina during 1950 will reach a record-breaking total of 35,000.

This figure is more than twice as large as the total of 17,000 cows bred under the program in 1948, the first year of operation. The total last year was about 27,000.

Except for Burke, Cabarrus, Lincoln and Stanly, all counties west of Raleigh are now organized into artificial breeding associations. Even in these four, many dairymen are receiving service from neighboring counties.

The newest association is in Sampson County, where operations were started last week. Pitt, Robeson and Richmond have recently entered the program. Also, surveys on the subject are being conducted in Craven, Pamlico, Carteret and Jones.

The number of associations in the State now totals 57, some of which serve two or more counties. All ex-

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT TO THE MEMORY OF WALTER A. LEGGETT

By The Board of Directors of The Bank of Edenton

The death of Walter A. Leggett on October 18, 1950, brings very deep sorrow to the Board of Directors of the Bank of Edenton. At the time of his death Mr. Leggett was Chairman of this Board and one of its most loyal and distinguished members.

During his many years of service to this Bank, both as Cashier and Director, he took an active interest in its affairs and was most conscientious in carrying out his duties and responsibilities. His most excellent advice and never failing fairness won him the esteem and love of his associates.

The passing of such a man, so good a friend and so valued a colleague, intensifies our appreciation of his noble qualities. His loss is keenly felt by the Board and the Bank's entire personnel, and we extend heartfelt sympathy to the members of his family in their bereavement.

Not On Intangibles

"What is Mesa Bill so gloomy about?" said the traveling salesman. "Family fortune," said Cactus Joe. "His old folks left him a marked deck of cards to make a living with. He's wondering whether he'll have to pay an inheritance tax."
