

VFW AND YOU

BY JIMMIE CHURCH

(Note: All views and information given in this column are those of the writer and not VFW. The writer is responsible for any error that might be made.)

Each member of VFW, and any man who is eligible to be a member of VFW, has at some time, risked his life for the preservation of peace in the world and for freedom of all people to think, worship, and live as they please. Only by working together did the fighting men of America defeat the foe in all the wars of our history: And only by working together can we preserve the peace and freedom for which we have fought and for which so many of our faithful comrades have died.

We, who have been in combat, know the cruel hardships of war. We know how gallantly our comrades have died. And only the members of those eligible for memberships of VFW can actually realize the true meaning of that one 'ism', Americanism. We know because we have seen all the other isms in action. If you are neglecting your duty by not joining. Why? Because VFW is fighting a peaceful war with the weapons of Kindness and help for others in order to prevent the hellish wars that all of us know so well. Join your local VFW today if you are eligible and are not already a member. Help VFW to help all people in these days of struggling gloom.

Any questions will be answered in this column if concerning VFW and directed to 'VFW and You', care of Wm. H. Coffield, Jr., Post 9280, Edenton, N. C.

BLOAT DAMAGES PASTURES

County Agent C. W. Overman says bloat is giving some trouble on succulent pastures in Chowan County and makes the following suggestions to combat this trouble:

Do not graze pastures while wet. Feed plenty of loose salt and a good mineral mixture. Feed animals plenty of good dry hay before grazing. Watch animals closely. Limit grazing periods where animals can feed at will to one hour or less and gradually increase if there is no apparent trouble. Dry hay in a rack in the pasture where animals can feed at will is good. Watch cattle and sheep but don't worry about hogs.
