Edenton's Colonials won four of the seven games played during the week, which resulted in a see-saw battle with Elizabeth City for second place in the Virginia League. As of Wednesday morning Elizabeth City was half a game ahead of the Colonials for second place. Sunday's game was rained out.

Home games for the coming week are: Tonight (Thursday), Suffolk; Saturday, Petersburg; August 5, Emporia; August 8, Franklin.

Edenton 10, Petersburg 1
Although the score is betraying, the Colonials won a very interesting game from Petersburg on Hicks Field Wednesday night of last week by a score of 10 to 1. Bobby Anderson, Colonial shortstop, had a field day, hitting two home runs which scored seven of Edenton's runs. He sacrificed and walked the other two runs at bat. Trot Leary also homered with the bases empty.

Shahid, on the mound for the Colonials, was in rare form, letting the league leaders down with only four hits. Their only score was a home run clout of Sangalli in the eighth inning. Shahid fanned eight batters and walked three.

Garthwaite started on the mound for the Generals and pitched very effectively until the fifth when the Colonials scored three runs on three hits. Again in the sixth three hits netted five runs. He was replaced by Turkey Tyson in the eighth, who allowed two hits in the one inning he pitched.

The Colonials scored their first run in the fourth. Messina singled and went to second on Anderson's sacrifice. Leary doubled, scoring Messina. In the fifth Corrales was safe on an error and Messina singled. Anderson then hit a homer, scoring three runs. In a big sixth inning Bagwell singled. Bland sacrificed and Corrales and Shahid walked. Messina's grounder forced Bagwell at the plate, but still the bases were loaded. Anderson, next up, then hit his second home run of the night to score four runs. Leary, next man up, walloped the ball over the right field fence for the fifth run. Edenton's final counter was made in the eighth. Messina singled and Anderson walked. Trot Leary then singled scoring Messina.

The Colonials made 10 hits, with Messina and Leary getting three each, Anderson two, and Parker and Bagwell one each.

Edenton 6, Emporia 0
Mills, Emporia's shortstop robbed Monk Raines, Colonial pitcher of a no-hit, no-run game on Hicks Field Thursday night, when the Colonials defeated the Rebels 6 to 0. Mills hit a single in the fourth inning which was the only hit made by the visitors during the game, which was played in one hour and 35 minutes. Raines was in rare form, fanning 11 batters and walked only three. He hit one batter. While he was pitching superb ball his teammates gave him gilt-edged support, executing three double plays.

The Colonials scored their first run in the second inning. Templeton singled and Bagwell walked, both

TIME SAVERS—To get a job done in a hurry the Seabees, in training at Port Hueneme, California, use time-saving mechanical equipment, including this trench-digging machine. Now designated as Mobile Construction Battalions, Seabees once again are at work on advance base and emergency construction overseas, adding new luster to the Navy Seabees' reputation for high-speed construction. Under command of Navy Civil Engineer Corps officers, the MCB's like the standard Seabee battalion of World War II, bring together the skilled men from 60 different construction trades; teaches them how to defend what they build against enemy attack and how to work at top speed under combat conditions. American labor has contributed to the Seabees by furnishing a large reservoir of skilled men in every kind of construction.

Halsey Hardwood Company Causes Test Case For OPS

First Action In U. S. Regarding Keeping of Records

The first case in any court in the United States regarding where records required by the Office of Price Stabilization's General Ceiling Price Regulation should be kept came up in Raleigh on July 26. Judge Don Gilliam issued a mandatory injunction against the Halsey Hardwood Company of Edenton.

The order requires that the Halsey Hardwood Company keep the required records available for inspection in Edenton, where the firm is incorporated.

The Halsey Hardwood Company is a corporation, the majority of whose shares are owned by Richard P. Baer & Company of Baltimore, Md. The firm, represented by former U. S. Senator William B. Umstead of Durham, held that it was their custom to keep records in Baltimore, thus meeting the requirements of the law.

The consent judgment signed by the defendant granted the relief which had originally been sought by the OPS. The government was represented by John C. Rodman, Assistant United States Attorney.

District Enforcement Director James F. Latham said: "It is felt that this consent judgment will have a most excellent effect on compliance activities within this district. The Halsey Hardwood Company, as well as many other lumber companies in this state, are controlled by partnerships or businesses outside North Carolina. Until this action, there was an honest question in the minds of these firms as to exactly where they were required to maintain their records—at the plant where the firm does its business or at a spot of the company's own choosing. That question has now been answered."

Mobile Diorama Exhibit On Belk-Tyler Lot Aug. 3-4

Free Display Sponsored By Edenton Police Department

A beautiful detailed mobile diorama exhibit will appear in Edenton Friday and Saturday, showing on the Belk-Tyler lot next to the Belk-Tyler store. Clifford Cunningham, an artist and skilled craftsman of Arlington, Va., worked more than a year in constructing the exhibit which is entitled "The Prince of Peace," which is housed in a gleaming white trailer. The exhibit will give viewers an unusual perspective of scenes from the life of Jesus Christ.

Dioramas are usually built permanently in museums and other places of display. Mr. Cunningham believes that this is the first mobile diorama exhibit in the world.

A former businessman, Mr. Cunningham devoted hundreds of hours to research and the construction of the exhibit. He has an investment of about $10,000 in mobile equipment and materials but says "the idea of making anything out of this exhibit is not so important. I've gotten a lot of personal satisfaction out of building it. I hope to bring Christ just a little closer to the people who view this exhibit."

Four painstakingly prepared dioramas, including many waxen figures, complete to every detail, especially as to costumes, are in the exhibit. Mr. Cunningham has overlooked no minute detail. Reproduction of masonry, flowers and other vegetation, rocks, soil texture and other items are in accordance with the Bible description of the scenes and in accord with world-famous paintings by great artists.

Mr. Cunningham is a past master at the art of building exhibits. He did exhibit work for the War Department for two world fairs, San Francisco and New York, and built a number of other special exhibits for the government.

The exhibit is sponsored by the Edenton Police Department and the public is cordially invited to attend. There will be no admission charged.

Mr. and Mrs. James Iredell "At Home" In Iredell House

Descendant of Famous Jurist, Here For Part Of Vacation

Edenton had two interesting visitors over the past week-end. Mr. and Mrs. James Iredell VI spent a part of their vacation in the Iredell house on Church Street. They set up house-keeping Friday afternoon in the small apartment in the house and "lived" there until their return to their home in Norfolk on Sunday.

Neighbors, of course, were interested to know who had moved in and when told that Mr. and Mrs. James Iredell were the new occupants, one of them replied, "It's too hot to make jokes."

Mr. Iredell is a direct descendant of the famous jurist and he is a member of the James Iredell Historical Association. Mrs. Iredell was a Johnson before her marriage, which is an interesting coincidence. They are a charming couple and made many friends while in Edenton.

Develop Community Programs Started

Meetings Called In Four Communities During August

The representatives present expressed a desire to try a community development program in each of these four communities.
