

FHA Day Friday At "Lost Colony"

Scores of Towns Expected to Be Represented At Manteo

From the Raleigh office of Catherine Dennis, state supervisor of the Future Homemakers of America, came the news early this week that scores of towns and communities of North Carolina would have FHA representation at the first annual Lost Colony Future Homemakers' Day on Friday, August 17. Miss Dennis, herself, and other FHA leaders of North Carolina will be present.

No set program has been arranged for the occasion. "Our main thought is for the future homemakers to see America's longest-lived outdoor drama, which not only tells the dramatic story of English-speaking America's beginning, but also the attempts at homemaking by those brave men and women who came to the primeval wilderness which was Roanoke Island, during the late 16th Century, and attempted to build homes here and found a new nation," said Miss Dennis.

Lost Colony officials became interested in honoring Future Homemakers at a special Day at The Lost Colony several months ago. At that time, a newspaperman connected with the drama covered a district meeting of the FHA in Creswell. More than 700 enthusiastic young women attended the meeting in Creswell. But the great number and the great interest shown at that occasion resulted in plans for the first Lost Colony FHA Day which is scheduled for August 17 on Roanoke Island.

Archie C. Ashley Was Recently Meritoriously Advanced At Memphis

Archie C. Ashley, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ashley of Edenton, recently meritoriously advanced in rate to hospitalman, first class. He received the advancement at the U. S. Naval Air Station, Memphis, Tenn., for "especially meritorious conduct and outstanding performance of duty in action against enemy forces in Korea."

Ashley, a veteran of nine years' service, has been wounded four times, once at Peillieu in World War II and three times in Korea. For his outstanding bravery under fire, Ashley had been recommended for the Navy's highest award, The Navy Cross. He now wears the Silver Star medal, Bronze Star Medal and Letter of Commendation for his heroism in Korea while attached to the First Marine Division.

Ashley entered the Naval service in June, 1943.

Robert Lee Privott, 66, Dies After Brief Illness

Robert Lee Privott, 66, died at his home in the Turkey Neck section at 7:25 o'clock Thursday morning after an illness of two weeks. He was a farmer and a native of Chowan County.

Family Specialist Resigns From Post

Mrs. Virginia Sloan Swain, specialist in family relations for the State College Extension Service, has resigned effective August 31 to become vocational home economics teacher at Needham Broughton High School in Raleigh, according to Miss Ruth Garrett, State home demonstration agent. She is making the change to enable her to spend more time with her family.

Mrs. Swain organized and for the past seven years has directed the Family Life Program for North Carolina's 67,000 home demonstration club members. She started the program in 1944 in just five counties. Today it is conducted in all 100 counties, there are more than 2,000 active local leaders, and in many counties it is carried as a joint program of farm and home agents, both white and Negro.

Speeding Summons For Truck Drivers

An average of four trucks a day were handed speeding summons by men of the State Highpay Patrol during the first six months of 1951, Patrol Commander James R. Smith reports. The arrest figures were taken from the regular semi-annual violations report compiled by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The Patrol reported 696 arrests of speeding truckers with an additional 59 warned but not actually arrested. January was the Patrol's busiest month when 152 trucks were picked up for exceeding the State's legal speed limit—45 miles per hour.

Other violations—including axle and road overloads—listed by the Department resulted in 2,278 arrests and 440 warnings.

Supplement Aids Hog Development

Demonstration Held By Carroll Byrum at Cross Roads

Animal protein factor supplement added to swine protein supplement proves beneficial in raising swine, according to County Agent C. W. Overman. This was the result obtained by Carroll Byrum of Cross Roads community. On June 3, two lots of six weaned pigs were placed in separate feeding pens. Both lots were fed corn and protein supplement free choice through a self feeder. The protein supplement consisted of 25% good tankage, 65% soybean oil meal and 10% salt and minerals.

Pigs in Lot No. 1 received A. P. F. (animal protein factor) added to the supplement, while Lot No. 2 received no A. P. F. This project was weighed out on August 7, giving the pigs 65 days on the feed. In the beginning the six pigs in Lot No. 1 weighed two pounds more than Lot No. 2. At the finish, the six pigs in Lot No. 1 weighed 143 pounds more than Lot No. 2 or a difference in gain of 141 pounds. Lot No. 1 had consumed slightly more supplement an about two and one half bushels more corn than Lot No. 2, but the gains of Lot No. 1 proved to be faster and more economical.

Specialist J. K. Butler assisted with this work and will give special weights and figures in the near future. Mr. Butler is conducting such feeding tests on several farms in several counties and under varying conditions and hopes to determine the actual value of A. P. F. in swine feeding on pasture and off pasture.

Speed Law Violators Use Much Court Time

Speed law violators took up a lot of time in North Carolina traffic courts during July the Department of Motor Vehicles reports. A total of 1,668 persons were arrested and convicted for speeding last month and another 1,148 were convicted of reckless driving. Driving without a license placed third on the Department's monthly report of traffic violations; 1,276 were arrested for having no operator's license.

Total number of North Carolina drivers found guilty of moving violations on the highways and streets of the state came to 5,737.
