Missionary Speaker At Meeting To Be Held At St. Paul's

Annual Meeting of Woman's Auxiliary April 23rd and 24th

Miss Nellie McKim, a missionary to Japan, will be one of the principal speakers at the Episcopal annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the National Council of the Diocese of East Carolina to be held in St. Paul's Episcopal Church Wednesday, April 23, and Thursday, April 24, when Holy Communion will be observed at 7:30 A. M., and a 10 o'clock meeting followed by luncheon and meeting at 2 o'clock.

Miss McKim is a kindergarten supervisor in the Diocese of North Kwanto, which is the region just north of Tokyo.

Principals of government high schools, not Christian themselves, invite her to come and talk to their students on democracy, religion, and other large subjects.

During the war, when American missionaries withdrew from Japan, Miss McKim worked in the Mountain Province of the Philippines and there, with the rest of the foreign missionaries, she was interned when the Japanese military took possession. It seemed a providential circumstance that the camp should have included Miss McKim, expert in Japanese language and customs. She was the official interpreter for the camp through the long months of internment.

Miss McKim was born in Japan. Her famous father, John McKim, was a missionary in Japan for 55 years. He was Bishop of Tokyo, now North Kwanto, from 1893 to 1935.

Miss Edna B. Beardsley, a national officer of the Woman's Auxiliary to the National Council, will also be on the program. Miss Beardsley is United Thank Offering secretary.

Local Milk Routes Topic At Meeting Held Last Week

State Near Bottom of List For Income From Livestock

On Tuesday night of last week a dairy meeting was held for Chowan farmers who are interested in the establishment of local milk routes. William J. Seibert, manager of Dairy Products Co-operative, Inc., of Ahsokie, attended the meeting and introduced the main speaker, R. G. Lytle, manager of the North Carolina Dairy Producers Association. Mr. Lytle explained that last year North Carolina imported 75 million dollars worth of fluid milk from other states and approximately 150 million dollars worth of other dairy products. Mr. Lytle emphasized the fact that North Carolina stands near the very bottom in the entire 48 states from the standpoint of income from livestock and livestock products. North Carolina had about the highest rejection from the military service during World War II, largely due to the fact that the men examined were physically unfit, because of an improper diet. It is only through a balance between crops and livestock that a farmer is able to utilize his land and labor resources most efficiently. The production of field crops is seasonal, which results in shortages of labor at the time when it is most needed. By attaining a balance in both field crops and livestock the farmer can utilize his time and also the time of his hired labor much

Health Department Is Planning To Conduct Series Heart Clinics

Many Children In School Show Evidence of Heart Disease

The District Health Department will add another clinic to the already loaded clinic schedule, with the establishment of a heart diagnostic clinic for school children only.

It will not be a free clinic since it will be held by a well qualified heart specialist, but the rates will be held to a minimum and far below the usual rates. Use of the fluoroscope, nursing service, clerical help, and laboratory service will be furnished free by the Health Department.

Approximately 356 school children in this health district show or have shown at least some indication of heart disease as indicated on the school cards. Sixty-four of these children were found by other doctors and naturally more have been found by the school physician whose principal work is school physical examinations.

About 98 per cent of the above children are in grades 1 through 5. Many others in grades 6 to 12 have not been examined at all schools, therefore many undiscovered cases are present in school.

Plans Progressing For Local Woman's Club Flower Show

Edenton Colonials Begin Training For Coastal Plain Race

Number of Candidates Training Under Manager Mustian

Vernon Mustian, new manager of the Edenton baseball team, began this week to work out a number of candidates for the 1952 edition of the Edenton Colonials in preparation for the race in the Coastal Plain League. With favorable weather, Mustian the early part of this week had about a dozen young men at Hicks Field going through limbering up exercises.

Aside from these drills, the candidates devoted some time to batting and fielding workouts. Manager Mustian devoted a goodly part of the time to bunting drills, one phase of the game which for the most part in previous years the Colonials paid little attention to. On hand also for the training sessions were a group of local fans, anxious to get some idea of what to expect on the diamond this season. Among the spectators was George Pratt, well known former Edenton and Colerain catcher. Pratt is a scout for the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League.

Among the players seen in the practice sessions were Ronnie White, a former Colonial pitcher; Claude Griffin, who last year played with Suffolk; Sam Mauney, young reserve catcher with the Colonials last season; Joe Trent, who has played in this section before; Joe O'Rourke from Long Island; Ernie Stinsa from Long Island; Joe Ott from Boston; Elmer White from Colerain; Carroll Blackerby, former Wake Forest star; George Farless from Colerain. With the opening of the league rapidly approaching more players will be reporting, so that prospects appear bright to Manager Mustian and Colonial officials for a creditable Edenton team to start for the first time in the Coastal Plain circuit.

The opening game of the league for the Colonials is scheduled for Thursday, May 1, when Tarboro will be the attraction on Hicks Field. Work is being done on the baseball field, so that everything will be in readiness for the 1952 race.

Before Mr. Griffin spoke, a few delightful numbers were rendered by a trio composed of Betsy Ross, Frances Holton and Jane Dulaney.

"It is altogether fitting for the Constitution to be discussed in the Iredele house," said Mr. Griffin at the outset. ## House, which was gradually deteriorating.

Mr. Griffin then went on to refer to the part James Iredele played in ratifying and adopting the Constitution as a member of the U. S. Supreme Court.

"Iredele," said Mr. Griffin, "came to this county when only 12 years of age and lived within the walls of this house. He married Hannah Johnson and lived here most of his life. He was bold enough to throw off the shackles of England and to declare no longer his allegiance to the mother country."

"After the war it was necessary to have some form of central government and Iredele furnished several concepts of what should be in the Constitution. Men were zealous for power and Iredele knew about freedom and what to do to prevent losing lives, property and family to the
