

Methodists Plan Unique Revival In About 300 Churches

North and South Carolina Pastors Will Exchange Pulpits

The Methodist Churches of Eastern North Carolina are preparing for a great United Evangelistic Mission, April 17-26. The plan involves bringing 300 guest pastors from South Carolina to assist in the visitation and preaching evangelism missions in nearly 300 Methodist churches. It involves the participation of more than 800 Methodist Churches in the Conference.

This is a part of a great revival, the "Methodist United Evangelistic Mission" which will be conducted throughout the Southeastern jurisdiction of the Methodist Church, covering nine states, (Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi) and Cuba. Preaching services and visitation evangelism will be held in one-half of these churches, April 19-26, and in the other half, May 3-10. The pastors in these two divisions will exchange their services, helping each other. In this arrangement, the pastors from the South Carolina Conference will assist their North Carolina brother-pastors, and in May the North Carolina pastors will go to the South Carolina Churches. Participating in the entire Mission will be eight Episcopal areas, 16 Annual Conferences, 141 districts, 12,173 churches and 5,218 pastors.

A highlight will be the 7 Youth Rallies to be carried out on Saturday evening, April 18, in strategic centers over the eastern part of the state. An attendance of 10,000 youth and sponsors is expected.

A second feature of the United Evangelistic Mission will be the 9 schools of evangelism for pastors, under the leadership of outstanding ministers from many parts of the nation. In the schools the pastors will be trained in the new techniques of visitation evangelism, pulpit evangelism and membership assimilation.

Bishop Paul N. Garber, presiding Bishop of the Richmond area, will lead the United Evangelistic Mission in the Virginia and North Carolina Conferences.

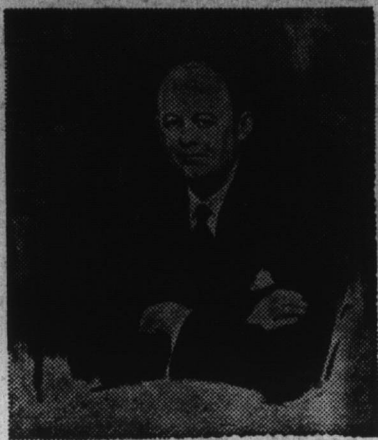

In Memory of the Ole Albemarle League

PAUL WHITE
Hertford, North Carolina

My mind goes back to 1921 When the Albemarle League was born. Behind the old depot across the railroad track, On Mr. Seymour Chappell's farm. Edenton, Hertford and Elizabeth City, Were the three members that I recall. When they played each other they asked for no pity But played rough and ready baseball. After 1922, it went to sleep But in 1931, it was revived. Then Williamston, and Windsor joined that year And that made the membership five. They played for two years and made baseball fame, But after that they took a rest. Until 1946, they started again Determined to do their best.

With Elizabeth City, Hertford and Edenton, Three teams that were hard to beat. With Camden, Windsor and Colerain, And that made the league complete. The next coming year when they started the race, There were changes made that were right. When Plymouth took Camden's place, And all the games were played at night.

Writes New Book

LeGette Blythe, whose latest book, "Miracle in the Hills," a lively first-person biography of Dr. Mary T. Martin Sloop of the famous Crossnore Mountain school and 1951 American Mother of the Year, is being released March 9 on Mrs. Sloop's eightieth birthday. It has been selected as the June or July choice of the Family Book Shelf, one of the nation's major book clubs. (Portrait by Charles Clement Tucker.)

Then they had a league that could really play ball, No better one could be found. It was all for one; and one for all, But they moved each other down.

They all tried hard to outdo each other.

For they all were relatives of the Albemarle League.

Whenever they would win from each other,

They would shout and dance a jig.

But when the game got rough and the umpires tough,

Sometimes their tempers would flare. But they would soon cool off when they had had enough,

For it was just like a family affair.

They would argue and then get mad as a wet hen,

The umpires they would always blame. But madness they couldn't keep and it didn't bother their sleep,

For it was just another baseball game.

They were good friends then just like they are now,

Sometimes they didn't feel the same. But we saw no difference in any of them,

When it came to playing a baseball game.

So that's what we wanted and that's the way it should be,

To enjoy good baseball pleasure. Because there's nothing so disgusting for the fans to see,

Than a ball game played so lazy.

So it went like that for four good seasons,

Good rough and tough baseball. Until the end came for no good reason, And for the Albemarle League, that was all.

I wish they would get together and have another meeting,

And bring back those happy joys. There's nothing I know of that would be so pleasing,

As a league of high school boys.

It would be real good training for these young men,

To help them on their way. So when they grow up some might play,

In a World Series some day.

If all the six towns would make their rules,

And make everyone live up to it. If they didn't abide by these rules; turn them out,

That would be the way to do it.

I know one thing that I will say, And that I'll never forget.

We've got to help in every way, Besides just buying a ticket.

For when the summer comes and no baseball,

It seems there's a very little left. But I hate to see the burden fall,

On one or two doing it all by themselves.

Now let's get together and organize this league,

And work without a thought of complaint.

Because the days are getting longer and spring is around the corner.

And by summer we'll play baseball again.

Senior Class News

BY MARGARET PARRISH

Annual work will be completed this week and the Annual will be sent off on Thursday. Three cheers for the Annual Staff, and especially the Editor-in-Chief, Francis! They have really put forth effort.

Iris Jean Leary, daughter of Mrs. W. K. Davis, 219 East King Street, was born on August 12, 1935. She has always lived in Edenton and attended school here.

Iris Jean loves to dance, swim, type, attend movies, cook, drive, twirl her baton, go to pajama parties and date Billy. In fact she likes just about everything.

Iris Jean was a member of the local F.H.A. Chapter for three years. She is a member of the Tri-Hi-Y and has been a majorette in the High School Band two years. She is in the Glee Club and has been in the Operetta two years. She was voted the Cutest Girl of the Class of '53.

Iris Jean is a member of the Edenton Methodist Church. She is employed as a part-time bookkeeper at Smith's Machine Shop. Upon graduation, her last name will change, but Iris Jean will continue to be the same sweet girl she always has been.

Alfred Rogerson Owens, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Owens, Sr., was born on September 28, 1935. At present they live at 210 East King Street, and Mr. Owens is a fireman for the Edenton Fire Department.

Al likes to participate in sports, swim, dance, date and attend movies. His main interest is Helen, and when you see one, you usually see two. Al adds that he also likes Fridays, because school is out.

Al is a member of the Monogram Club and has been for three years. He has played both football and basketball three years. Al is typist for the Annual Staff.

He is a member of the Edenton Baptist Church. Upon graduation, he plans to enter East Carolina College. We wish for him lots of luck in the future years.

Local Breeders Plan To Attend Policy Meeting

Albemarle Breeding Coop., Inc., will have a representative meet with the State Policy Committee of the American Breeders Service at the City Hall in Statesville on Wednesday, March 4. David Worth of Raleigh, chairman, will carry this very important meeting of local breeders to order for the day's session.

Rockefeller Prentice, owner, and other executives of the American Breeders Service, will discuss various matters of policy, including semen saving, possibilities of semen freezing, sire selection, Purebred Dairy Cattle Association Rules and Regulations, and other subjects of timely interest and importance.

It is expected that most of the directors and officers of the North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia organizations will attend this meeting. County Agents and the State College dairymen have been invited. Albemarle Breeding Coop., Inc., is helping to improve the dairy herds in the county by making available the service of these desirably proved sires of the American Breeders Service, at a cost that farmers can afford.
