Senior Hi-Light

By EDNA BOSWELL

For the past few years the Senior Class of E. H. S. has attended the State Fair in a body. This trip, according to all reports, has been one of the most enjoyable ones taken. The Class of '54, in class meetings of last week, has carefully laid out plans to make such a trip. The class has decided to leave Edenton at six o'clock on October the twentieth, and to return late that same evening.

In order to raise money for the Annual project, the Seniors are selling concessions at each home football game. The sale is proceeding nicely, but naturally, we hope that with each game the proceeds will increase.

This week the Seniors chosen to be introduced to you are Libby Small and Ben Browning.

Libby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Small, was born in Chowan County on February 15, 1936. She is in the Tri-Hi-Y, the Glee Club and is an excellent majorette in the High School Band. Driving, going to movies, dancing and teaching baton lessons are her main interests. Although Libby isn't quite sure what college she will attend, she will definitely study business administration.

Ben, born November 25, 1935 in Rocky Mount, moved to Edenton at the age of ten. He is the son of Mrs. Mary L. Browning. This year Ben is the Editor of the Annual, a Student Council representative, a member of the Beta Club, a bus driver, and is president of the Hobby Club. He is also photographer for the Athletic Department. Next Fall Ben plans to enter State College at Raleigh.

Sigma Chi pledged 30 new students to lead all organizations, and Pi Kappa Phi had 28, Phi Gamma Delta, Kappa Alpha and Beta Theta Pi, each received 24 new members.

Approximately 85 per cent of the student body holds membership in one of the social organizations.

Among the Kappa Alpha members is Allen Harless of Edenton.

Forest Ranger White Collects Pine Cones

(Continued from Page One) tiny pine seedling. When only one to two years old, the seedling is ready to be lifted from the nursery bed and shipped to distant points throughout the state to be re-planted. Barring an accidental death due to wild fire, disease, or natural competition with other trees, the pine seedling will one day produce seed-bearing cones of its own.

That's the story in brief of one phase of forestry nursery work. While the nurseryman works to produce more and better trees through modern methods, old mother nature goes quietly along carrying out the same work in less effective fashion.

It's something of a cycle: the mature pine produces seed, the seed germinates and grows into a tiny seedling, the seedling eventually becomes a mature tree which begins to develop seed of its own, and the cycle is complete. So when somebody says "this forestry business goes around in circles," they are right.

Library Officials Enjoy Visit To Edenton

"From our conversations with you during the day, we know that you are very interested in giving immediate attention to the building of bins for picture books in the library. Miss Waff has discussed with us several possible locations for such shelving. The shelving used to house the general collection should be made adjustable in a manner similar to that used in the new high school. This would enable Miss Waff to shelve her collection properly and would reduce wear on books now too large for the fixed shelves. You will also probably want to give some attention to the lighting in the room as soon as possible.

"The faculty may want to discuss a plan whereby the boys and girls can assist Miss Waff during their library periods in the operation of the library. Miss Waff has a tremendous amount of work to do in keeping records, processing new books, and caring for the present collection. The pupils could gain much in assisting her in performing the services which she so ably gives. It would be a rich experience for them and would also provide Miss Waff with more opportunities to guide individual book selection and use.

"Your library room is very attractive and its importance to the boys and girls is readily apparent. We are looking forward to other visits to your school. Perhaps, before too long the new furniture will be installed. Thank you again for the cordial welcome we received in the Edenton Elementary School."
