

Aces Narrowly Get By Tarboro Tigers In Game Friday Night

Chan Wilson Thrills Big Crowd With 74-Yard Pass Interception

Coach Ben Perry's Edenton Aces narrowly got by Tarboro in an Albe-Marle Conference football game played on Hicks Field Friday night by a score of 13 to 12. Statistics of the game were overwhelmingly in favor of the visitors, who chalked up 17 first downs to six for the Aces, gained 174 yards on the ground to 89 by the Aces and added 41 yards on passes while the Aces completed only 16 yards on two completed passes.

However, about midway in the first quarter Tarboro was bidding for a touchdown deep in Edenton territory. After the Aces kicked the visitors chalked up four successive first downs which carried the ball to the 18-yard line. On the next play Tarboro was thrown for a short loss, and on the next play Sasser threw a lateral which Chan Wilson grabbed and raced 74 yards for a touchdown. Two Tarboro players were blocked out of the play and Wilson easily outran the only other Tarboro player anywhere near him. Twiddy's kick for extra point was blocked.

Tarboro evened the count early in the second quarter. The Aces recovered a fumble but were forced to kick as the visitors' line refused to yield. Riggs made a first down to the Edenton 34. Two successive passes clicked taking the ball to the 15. Lilley then drove to the 12 and then to the nine and then to the seven, from where he crashed over for the touchdown. The kick for extra point was blocked and for the remainder of the quarter the ball saw-sawed back and forth with the score 6-6 at half-time.

Tarboro took the lead early in the third quarter. Tarboro kicked, but the Aces were forced to kick. Lilley and Riggs alternated in chalking up three first downs. Then a pass to Smith was good for a first down on the Edenton 17. In two plays Riggs drove to the Edenton 6, from where Lilley went through for the visitors' second touchdown. The kick was again blocked, which really caused the defeat.

The visitors apparently had the upper hand until late in the game. Smith quick kicked for Tarboro and it was the Aces' ball on their own 27. Stillely and Twiddy drove to the 38 after which Twiddy bulled his way to the Tarboro 44. Byrum picked up two and a pass to Stillely netted six yards. With the ball on the Tarboro 36, Whitson on an inside reverse picked a hole in the Tarboro line and raced over for the touchdown. On the same kind of a play he raced over untouched for the extra point which meant a victory for the Aces.

Aside from Wilson's long romp and Whitson's drive the Aces' playing was not so very impressive Friday night. It was the second victory of the season, both of which were conference games.

Development Forum Held At Elizabeth City Next Tuesday Night

All Interested In Securing New Industries Urged to Attend

An invitation is extended to all citizens interested in learning more about how to map plans for obtaining new industries for their respective communities to attend a Department of Conservation and Development-sponsored Development Forum at Elizabeth City Tuesday, October 27.

The invitation comes from Director Ben E. Douglas of the State Department of Conservation and Development in Raleigh.

The Development Forum at Elizabeth City will be the eighth in a series of ten the C&D Department is holding over the State in the stepped up plans to assist local communities in securing of more industrial payrolls and thus bring about a better balance between agriculture and industry in North Carolina, Douglas said. It will be climaxed by a question-and-answer period in which the audience is urged to ask questions pertaining to the securing of new industrial plants.

While the Development Forum at Elizabeth City, which will be held in the Pasquotank County Court House and which will start at 7:30 P. M., Tuesday, October 27, is planned primarily for industry-minded citizens of Gates, Currituck, Camden, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Chowan, Washington, Tyrrell, Dare, Beaufort, and Hyde counties, residents of other counties are also invited, Douglas said. More than 3,000 people have attended the seven forums held to date.

Lt. Governor Luther H. Hodges of Leaksville and Carl E. Blass, plant manager for Talon, Inc., at Woodland, N. C., head the list of speakers. Blass made the surveys and selected the site locations for the three plants that Talon, Inc., nationally known zipper manufacturing company, has located in Northampton and Gaston counties. Blass is a well known industrial engineer. He will speak on "Points of Interest in Industrial Surveys."

Home Demonstration Achievement Day Meeting

Approximately 65 Home Demonstration Club members representing all of the 11 clubs in the county and a number of guests assembled in the Cross Roads Community Building Thursday, October 15, for the annual Fall Federation Meeting of Home Demonstration Clubs, better known as Achievement Day. The building was beautifully decorated by the members of the Chowan Club with colorful arrangements of Fall flowers.

Mrs. I. E. Halsey, County Council President, presided. Mrs. Wallace Goodwin of the Enterprise Club gave the group a most cordial welcome which was followed by a response by Mrs. A. D. Ward, Sr., of the Ward Club. Excellent reports were given by each club of their accomplishments during the year. Some of the reports were presented in skits, poems, and letters and were very original and interesting. Mrs. John Hollowell and Mrs. Roland Evans, who attended the United Nations Tour, gave some of the highlights of their trip. Miss Verna Stanton, Assistant State Home Demonstration Agent, from Raleigh, who was guest speaker, gave a most interesting account of the Associated Country Women of the World Meeting which she attended in Toronto, Canada, recently, using beautiful colored slides to illustrate her talk.

Mrs. Elbert Peele, of the Oak Grove Club, presented perfect attendance certificates to each club member who had attended every regular club meeting during the year. The Ward Club received an award of five dollars for having the highest score of any of the clubs in the county. The award is based on attendance at all meetings, club and community projects, and activities, leader participation and other phases of club work. Special music was presented by Mrs. Cameron Boyce from the Center Hill Club. Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed by everyone. The following club women received Perfect Attendance Certificates: Advance—Mrs. J. C. Skinner; Beech Fork—Mrs. I. E. Halsey, Mrs. Paul Ober, Mrs. Linwood Layton; Byrd—Mrs. C. W. Overman, Mrs. S. F.
