

Peanut Producers Scheduled Receive Part Accumulation

Those Marketing Cooperatively In 1952 Eligible For Checks

Peanut producers of the Virginia type producing area of Tennessee, South Carolina, North Carolina, and Virginia who marketed peanuts cooperatively in 1952 through Growers Peanut Cooperative, Franklin, Virginia, will share in capital accumulations from such marketing by soon receiving a check representing their part of such accumulations.

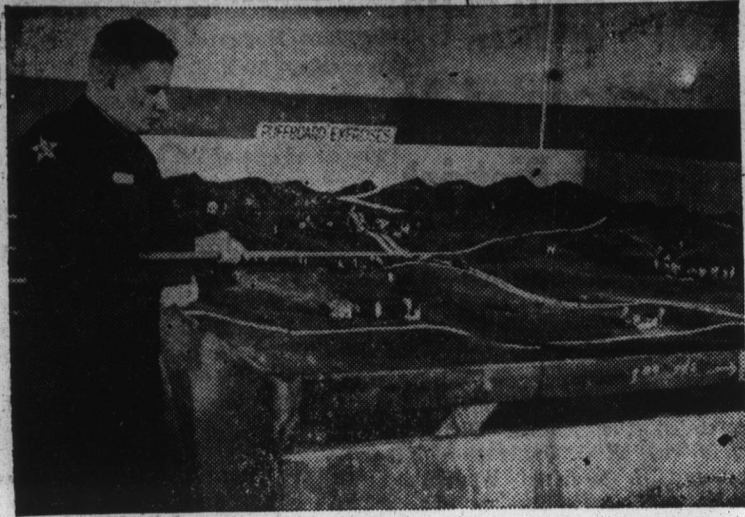

William V. Rawlings, president of Peanut Growers Cooperative Marketing Association (successors to G.P.C.) stated the distribution to producers would begin just as soon as the final audit can be completed. Rawlings stated the fact there would be accumulations sufficient to warrant a distribution are especially encouraging in view of the difficulties producers encountered in marketing the 1952 crop.

A portion of the funds to be distributed resulted from a highly successful test milling operation conducted by the producer organization after experiencing difficulty in marketing the inventory as farmers stock peanuts. In addition to the financial success of the milling operation, accurate data was obtained relating to the cost of milling, mill outturns, and subsequent to the producer milling operation, approximately 100,000 bags of 1952 crop inventory has been sold at 105 per cent of support. The data will be very helpful to the Peanut Growers Cooperative Marketing Association in more efficiently marketing members peanuts in 1953 and future years. The Association is in a position to engage in this phase of marketing in 1953 from the start and results should be even more beneficial to producer members.

USDA Reports Indicate Onions On Plentiful List

Do you realize that the American persons eats an average of ten pounds of onions each year and that he's been consuming this amount every year since 1935? It's true, claim U. S. Department of Agriculture specialists.

And this Fall, the homemaker who buys foods in season will be finding new ways to serve onions since the late onion crop this Fall is the second largest on record—prices are low and quality is high, say State College nutritionists.

When looking for dry onions, choose those that are bright, clean, hard, well-shaped and those with dry skins. In selecting green onions, pick those that are young, crisp, tender, have fresh green tops, medium-sized necks and are white two or three inches from the root.

To store dry onions, place them at room temperature or slightly cooler (60 to 70 degrees Fahrenheit).

Generally onions are used as seasonings, but this year since the quality is so high and the supply so plentiful, the wise homemaker may want to change her cooking practices to utilize more onions. She can serve onions boiled, creamed, stuffed, fried, or scalloped with nuts and apples, for example. Boiled sliced onions make a delicious garnish for meat loaf, and of course, batter-dipped fried onions are a favorite accompaniment for broiled liver.

Onion soup will taste mighty good these crisp Fall days. Simply cook 1½ cups finely chopped onion in 2 tablespoons butter until lightly browned. Blend in 2 tablespoons flour. Add

I don't own a car so I bum rides to work from passing motorists. A highway patrolman told me this was against the law. Is it?
