

Chowan County Has Authority To Scrap J. P. Fee System

Attorney General Harry McMullan Points Out 1949 J. P. Act

According to Attorney General Harry McMullan, there are 27 counties in North Carolina which could take steps to eliminate the fee system of justices of the peace. This information was given in a letter to Reed Saratt of the Winston-Salem Journal and Sentinel.

Mr. McMullan said he hopes newspapers can arouse public sentiment to the point where one or more of the counties will give the 1949 Justice of the Peace Act a trial.

The act says that board county commissioners in the 27 counties may, by resolution, put magistrates on a salary instead of a fee basis. The justices of the peace would be appointed for two-year terms by resident judges of the Superior Court, who would have the authority to remove them for cause.

The counties having authority to undertake such a program, wrote McMullan are: Anson, Bladen, Buncombe, Burke, Camden, Chowan, Columbus, Craven, Currituck, Dare, Edgecombe, Gaston, Graham, Hertford, Iredell, Lenoir, Mecklenburg, Montgomery, Onslow, Orange, Pasquotank, Pender, Perquimans, Rowan, Stanly, Stokes and Vance.

Plans Shaping Up For Christmas Party

The parade will move along Broad Street led by police escort, followed by town and BPW officials and the Edenton Junior-Senior High School Band. Many beautifully decorated floats will follow with Santa Claus in his sleigh bringing up the rear. The parade will turn on East Water Street and stop at the Court House Green for Santa to mount his reviewing stand where he will chat with the youngsters and hear their pleas.

Two prizes will be given for the best floats. First prize of $15.00 will be given for the best float and $10.00 for the second best float.

All county and city schools, both white and colored, will be closed an hour before the parade so that the children may see and take part in the parade. Tickets will be distributed throughout the schools, from the first through the fourth grades. Pre-school children will receive tickets at the Court House Green where the party will be held.

The Green will be roped off into two lanes, one for the white children and one for the colored children. Bags of Christmas sweets will be distributed by members of the Edenton National Guard to the white children, and members of the Colored Woman's Club will handle distribution to the colored children. Edenton police will direct traffic during the afternoon.

The colored lights on Broad Street will be turned on the day of the big event to give a cheerful festive air and at the same time officially open the Yuletide season. Edenton merchants are busy decorating their display windows and their counters are already filled to capacity with an assortment of attractive toys and gifts.

What Do You Know About Motor Vehicle Laws?

I've had an argument with my wife about this question. Is passing on the right ever permissible?

M.P.C.—Graham.

Under certain conditions, yes. The Motor Vehicle Manual describes these conditions as: When the vehicle overtaken is in a lane designated for left turns; on highways of sufficient width and marked for two lanes of traffic in each direction, the lanes not obstructed by parked vehicles; and when driving in a lane designating a right turn on a red traffic signal.
