

Farmers Consider Projects For 1954

Large Number Attend Agricultural Workers' Council

The Chowan County Agricultural Workers' Council met on Tuesday afternoon last week with almost 100 per cent attendance. Several action projects were considered for 1954. According to the 1950 Census for Chowan County, this county has 798 farms. This census shows that 277 farms did not report gardens, 196 farms have no chickens, 635 farms no milk cows, 219 farms no hogs, 537 farms no fruit trees or grape vines. This is considered an appalling situation in a good agricultural county like Chowan where people should live at home and board at the same place. "Producing, Conserving and Using the Family Food Supply" was decided upon as a paramount operation to work on, particularly with small farms and low income farm families. The ladies decided on their phase of this activity to involve production of the home food supply, conservation and better diets, while the men will work chiefly on the production side. Chowan County is raising approximately 17,000 head of hogs per year. By the use of good Ladino pasture demonstrations have proved that hogs can be produced for between 11 and 12 cents per pound. To meet the needs it is concluded that there is a need of at least 1,000 acres of good Ladino clover pasture for hogs alone. It was decided to make this the second major project and included sufficient good clover and grass pasture to meet the needs of the cattle population. There is considerable interest in the use of anhydrous ammonia and liquid nitrogen as a cheaper source of nitrogen for crops. Also there is considerable interest in the use of chemical weed control. It was decided to join these and make this the third objective for the year. Producing Easter lilies is quite a technical enterprise but one within the bounds of those who are willing to provide the proper equipment and apply proper care and management. Gordon Boyce, at the Ryland community, has a small green house in which he has started 250 Easter lilies. Specialist J. B. Gartner and the county agent visited Mr. Boyce's enterprise last week. Mr. Boyce appears to be following instructions to the letter and it is hoped he will make a success with his first venture. This is just one of many new enterprises that might be started on small farms in Chowan County to help boost the family income.

News About Clubs In Chowan County

By MRS. IMOGENE COCHRANE

Among the many activities included in the girls' 4-H Club program one of the most popular is the 4-H clothing program. The purpose of this program is to help 4-H girls develop the skills and knowledge necessary to plan, select, construct, assemble and care for suitable clothes for work, school and social events. The clothing program consists of a number of projects such as clothing achievement, better grooming, and knitting and crocheting. 4-H girls may enroll in either of these projects or all of them if they wish.

The Clothing Achievement Project should include all clothing work done by the 4-H girl. A first year club member should begin with fitting a sewing box; then, learn to sew by hand and by machine. First year members often make tea towels, lunch-cloth sets, aprons and other easy to make articles. As their skill increases, cotton blouses, skirts and simple dresses should be tried. In addition to construction of clothing, the project includes wardrobe planning, selection of suitable accessories, care of clothing and personal grooming. Since better grooming is a separate project it would work in nicely with the clothing achievement project.

The better grooming project is open to all 4-H club members. Its purpose is to help boys and girls to develop a more pleasing appearance and personality. 4-H members who are interested in the project should make improvements in personal care of the body and selection of clothes.

Girls who are interested in crocheting and knitting should enter this contest. Remember to make those things that show good taste. Too often money, time, and energy are wasted on making useless articles. Since this contest comes in clothing, only articles related to clothing should be considered such as sweaters, bags, gloves or mittens, stoles, baby garments, or socks.

Girls, whether you have selected one of these clothing projects or some other project, let's begin work on them now. Let one of your New Year's 4-H resolutions be to complete at least one good project and let this be one of your best years as a 4-H'er.
