

Great Army Names Linger On In Honor Of Heroic Leaders

Washington—Famous names in the Army live on long after their heroic deeds are forgotten.

The Army long has made it a practice to memorialize and perpetuate the names of many of its outstanding leaders. The colorful history of the United States would lack some of its luster were it not for such names as Lee, Custer and Carson, to name but a few.

Some camps and forts are named for military men not so widely known. Fort Bliss, Texas, for example, was named in 1854 in honor of Major William S. Bliss. He was known as "Perfect Bliss" because of his efficiency as Zachary Taylor's adjutant general in the War with Mexico.

Fort Dix, N. J., honors Major General John Adams Dix—a man extraordinarily famous in his time. Dix was commissioned at the age of 14 and later fought in the Battle of Lundv's Lane. He went on to become Secretary of the Treasury in 1861, and performed notable service for his nation in politics, finance and statesmanship.

Many of the Army's camps and forts now in existence were named long before modern naming policies were adopted. Fort Lewis, Wash., took its name from Meriwether Lewis of the famous Lewis and Clark Expedition. Fort Crockett, Texas, took its name from David Crockett, the famous hunter and distinguished legislator, who died at the Alamo.

Still others were named for presidents, such as Fort Monroe, Va., Fort Hayes, Ohio, and Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., while a few commemorate noted American statesmen.

But by and large, the great number of Army camps and forts commemorate general officers and in some cases gallant enlisted men. Today there are approximately 52 camps and forts in the United States that bear the names of Army officers who devoted their lives in serving this great country. There are four camps whose names honor Army enlisted men.

Of the 84 active camps and forts now listed by the Army, about two dozen were named in the 1800's, a half dozen in the early 1900's prior to World War I, nine during World War I, 13 in the era between world wars, 26 during World War II, and only seven since then.

Since August, 1946, suggestions and recommendations to name or re-name camps and forts have been acted upon by the Army's Memorialization Board.

DESIGN FOR SURVIVAL—Dual purpose rifle-shotgun shown above was designed by Army Ordnance for use by Air Force flyers in event they are forced down in uninhabited regions. The combination .22 Hornet rifle-410-gauge-shotgun is ideal for killing small game. The weapon is extremely accurate at 20-yards shotgun and 100-yards rifle range. Center photo shows rugged, simplified construction of the over-and-under dual-purpose gun. Nine .22 caliber rifle shells and four .410 gauge shotgun shells can be carried within the stock. Folded for convenience (bottom photo), the weapon is ready for inclusion in a survival kit. The 29-and-one-half-inch gun measures 14 and three-quarter inches when folded. It weighs three pounds 11 ounces.

Question: How should a farmer go about making out his federal income tax return?

Answer: Secure two copies of Form 1040 and Form 1040-F; assemble all available information concerning farm business for the taxable year, including record books, cancelled checks, bills, statements, check books, receipt books, and a copy of preceding year's return or inventory used in the preceding year's return; read carefully all the instructions on Form 1040, Form 1040-F and the official instruction pamphlet; fill out one set of both forms, being careful as to accuracy of each item; recheck blanks carefully; make ink or typed copies of both forms; keep one copy of each form as they may be useful in answering questions about the return, helpful in filling out State income tax returns and future federal returns.

Question: Can I actually make more money by using more fertilizer in 1954?

Answer: Better use of fertilizer, whether more or less, will add to your income. Take corn for example; yields increase as more nitrogen is used—up to 160 pounds of nitrogen per acre. But if you put on more and more fertilizer, eventually yields will actually decrease. On the average, corn yields increase from 26 bushels per acre with no nitrogen to 54 bushels when 40 pounds per acre is used. Corn is expected to sell at about $1.42 per bushel next year. By close figuring, you can estimate the increase in yield per acre and the cost of the additional fertilizer. See your county agent for detailed assistance.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

His spirit having returned to the pure flame from which it came, we, the wife and children of George Oakley Lane, wish to acknowledge, and to express our profound thanks for all of the nameless but gratefully remembered acts of kindness and of love on the part of neighbors and friends who, during his long illness, continually manifested their interest and sympathy in every way. We would like to express our appreciation to Miss Beulah Evans for the most appropriate program of music which she gave at the church immediately preceding the funeral; to members of the Rocky Hock choir for the singing of our favorite commitment hymns; to the Rev. B. L. Raines for his inspiring message of hope and faith; to Messrs. Tom Bunch, Robert and Carey Evans, Lloyd Bunch, Ray Hollowell and Mark White for their services as pallbearers; and to all the friends who sent the beautiful floral tributes.

To one and all, we are most grateful.

Signed: MRS. PRISCILLA LANE, WALTER LANE, ELIZABETH LANE BOND
