New Magnetized Towel Help For Homemakers

If you have trouble keeping up with a kitchen towel when you are busy cooking or washing dishes, a new kitchen towel recently put on the market is designed especially for you.

The new towel is magnetized to help homemakers keep a kitchen towel within easy reach. It is made of cotton terry cloth and has a little magnet in the corner to make it cling to any iron or steel object.

When the homemaker needs a towel at the stove or sink, the "magnetowel" is right at her finger tips. There'll be no walking back and forth to the towel rack, for the magnet makes it always within easy reach. The terry cloth hand towel comes in red, blue, or gold.
