

Doris Jean Lewis Weds G. A. Keeter

Wedding Performed In Methodist Church June 13

The marriage of Miss Doris Jean Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Lewis, to George Albert Keeter, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Albert Keeter, took place Sunday afternoon, June 13, at 4 o'clock at the Edenton Methodist Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. B. Edwards, pastor of the church, in a setting of summer flowers and cathedral candles.

A program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Paul Holoman throughout the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of slipper satin with a bodice of nylon lace with portrait neckline edged with dainty lace and pearls. Long sleeves tapered into wedding peaks over the hands and bouffant skirt extended into a full train. Her finger tip veil of illusion fell from a shepherdess cap of satin and tiny pearls. She carried a prayer book topped with a white orchid with a purple throat, showered with white satin streamers tied in love knots.

Miss Clara Jean Lassiter, as maid of honor, wore a waltz length gown of lavender net over taffeta and matching headband.

Miss Betty Smith, Miss Estelle Stallings, Mrs. Ruby Vopelak and Mrs. Rose Parilla were bridesmaids. They wore waltz length gowns of shades of pink and blue net over taffeta. They carried bouquets of net centered with a lighted candle with white streamers tied in love knots.

The bridegroom had Billy Moore as best man.

Ushers were Billy Gray Forehand, Lynn Perry, Lloyd Goodwin and Terry Bennett.

The bride's mother wore a street length dress of navy and white accessories. Her corsage was red carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a street length dress of navy with white accessories and her corsage was white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride for immediate friends and relatives.

The traveling bride wore a figure-hugging nylon dress of style, with white accessories and the orchid lifted from her prayer book.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to High Point, they will make their home in Edenton.

Turnover In Debt Exceeds Amount Outstanding

During 1953 the outstanding amount of consumer installment debt—the type of loans people use to buy cars and furniture—increased from 18.7 billion dollars to 21.8 billion dollars. However, it is probably even more significant that the turnover during the year considerably exceeded the outstanding balance at either the beginning or the end of the year.

The consumer installment credit extended on purchases made during 1953 totaled 29.8 billion dollars. But during the same period the borrowers paid back 26.7 billion dollars through their regular installments. These repayments were applied in part against the 18.7 billion dollars outstanding at the beginning of the year, and in part against the 29.8 billion dollars contracted during the year. The net effect was to increase the unpaid balance by 3.1 billion dollars.

Some concern has been felt in certain quarters regarding the volume of installment credit and the increase in that volume during 1953. However, those who look only at the statistics on the amount of such credit outstanding miss one of the most important aspects of the problem—namely, the turnover in installment debt.

Installment debt is not a constant, or gradually increasing, burden on the same group of consumers for the same original purchases. It is a continuously revolving debt, in which the annual amount of new loans, as well as the annual amount of repayments, is greater than the unpaid balance at any given moment. The increase during 1953 was the effect of the small differential between a large volume of new borrowing and a large volume of repayment.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. J. D. Ward, who departed this life eight years, ago, June 11th, 1946:

From our lonely home on this earth Our precious one has gone from us, A voice we loved is still, A place is vacant in our hearts Which never can be filled.

Eight long years have now passed But thoughts of you will always last. No one knows how much we miss you For you yourself were kind and true.

Loving memories will never fade away As we live on day by day. Love for you we cannot forget With us are aching hearts yet.

They say time heals all sorrow, And helps us to forget, But time so far has only proved, How much we miss you yet.
