New Fashion Takes Cue From France

A new fashion for little American girls is inspired by the dainty smock of the petite French miss. Called the "Madeleine," this charming little cotton garment is as attractive as a pinafore, but as sturdy as rugged blue jeans.

The blue denim "Madeleine" fastens at the shoulders. Its huge pockets go halfway around the garment, which is long enough to be worn over dresses.

The comfortable "Madeleine" is washable, easy to keep fresh and clean.

Pre-Cut Draperies Ease Sewing Job

"Do it yourself" has become a byword of the American household. Throughout the country both men and women are enthusiastically taking over many of the jobs that formerly had to be done by professionals.

Manufacturers are coming to the aid of the "do it yourself" home-owners. All sorts of new pre-cut and packaged products are going on the market to make things easier for the amateurs.

Latest entry in the do-it-yourself field is a package of pre-cut draperies which home sewers can make with little effort.

Each package contains a matching pair of cotton fabric panels, pre-cut; special pleating tape for making pinch or box pleats; plus thread, pins, hooks and how-to-do-it instructions. These cotton drapery panels come in a range of print and solid colors. The draperies are simply styled for a minimum of sewing.
