During the month of November, sales in North Carolina were 15.2% over the same month of 1953. The sales of the Series E & H Bonds in North Carolina reached a nine-year high during the month when $4,069,797.50 worth of bonds were sold. The accumulated sales of Savings Bonds for the State were $2,132,143.50 greater than for the comparable period of last year.

"Although we are now in the maturity period that reflects the tremendous World War II purchases of Savings Bonds, November sales exceeded redemptions across the nation. As of November 30, 1954, the cash value of Series E & H Bonds in the hands of individuals reached a record peak of over $38 billion, the greatest amount of U.S. Savings Bonds ever held by the American people at any one time."

"We in the Savings Bonds Division are exceedingly proud of the fine increase we are having in sales this year and we salute the bankers and other volunteers in North Carolina who are making this outstanding record possible. The encouraging trend towards greater thrift among the people in our State inspires confidence of even larger sales in the new year of 1955," said Walter P. Johnson, State Director for North Carolina.

Farm Workers Outnumbered By Government Jobholders

There are more people on public payrolls in the United States than there are farmers employed on all the farms in all the states in the entire nation, it is reported by the Tax Foundation.

Total public employment in Federal, state and local government reached a new high of 7,083,000 persons in fiscal 1954, compared with 6,683,000 in farm employment, according to figures contained in the new eighth edition of the Foundation's biennial reference book, Facts and Figures on Government Finance, 1954-55.

Put another way, the number of people in public employment is greater than the total population of Chicago, Cleveland and Portland, Me.

Public payrolls increased by nearly 20,000 in fiscal 1954, again reflecting a steady increase since the postwar low in 1946, said the Foundation. A sizeable increase in state and local employment counteracted a slight decline in Federal employment, which at 2,348,000 was smaller in 1954 than in any of the preceding three years.

The 251-page book, which contains charts and tables describing taxation, spending and debt aspects of Federal, state and local governments, showed the following growth in public employment:

In 1946, the total of employees of all types of government was 6,263,000; in 1950, 6,360,000; in 1951, 6,678,000; in 1952, 6,925,000; and in 1953, 7,061,000. In 1951, there were 2,386,000 Federal employees; in 1952, 2,599,000; and in 1953, 2,519,000. Meanwhile, the book shows state and local employment (including school and non-school) climbed from 4,541,000 in 1953 to 4,735,000 in 1954, the highest point in progressive increases dating back to 1950.

What it cost to pay this vast labor force is shown in one of the 173 tables in the book. The monthly payroll of all civilian employees in 1954 was over $2 billion, highest in history. Federal government payrolls were down slightly from $828 million per month in 1953 to

State Ports Gaining In Volume Business

More People Becoming Conscious of Economic Value

"The labor payroll for handling cargo through the Wilmington State Port has exceeded $100,000 for the third consecutive month," hundreds of motor transports, have

This is announced by Colonel Richard S. Marr, Executive Director of the North Carolina State Ports Authority. He also states that during the last one hundred days, with the exception of about eighteen of these days, the Wilmington State Docks were always busy working at least one ship and many days during this period two ships were either being loaded or unloaded.

Marr also said, "During this period, more than 1,500 railroad cars were loaded or unloaded at the State Port has exceeded $100,000 for the third consecutive month."

of tons of tobacco, scrap iron, jute, hurlap, wood pulp, cotton, steel products and other items of general cargo.

"The economic value of this activity to the state is far-reaching, for in addition to the labor payrolls of $100,000 per month, transportation costs on this cargo have been considerable, and the millions of dollars exchanged in the buying and selling of these goods have benefited many people."

"Present information indicates that this trend will continue on into next year, for more and more people are becoming conscious of the great economic value of the State Ports to them."
