

Downum Reports On Convention At Lions Club Meeting

Three Local Members Attend Convention In Atlantic City

Dr. A. F. Downum gave a report to the Edenton Lions Club at its regular meeting Monday night on the Lions International Convention held at Atlantic City last week. Downum reported that the delegation from the Edenton club were kept busy attending the various activities set up for the convention. He reported that 844 new Lions clubs were organized during the last fiscal year, and a total of 11 new countries were added to the roster. Twenty-two thousand new members were added during the year making a total of 529,402 members of Lions International.

The Edenton delegation consisted of Dr. A. F. Downum, R. West Leary, Jr., and Ralph E. Parrish. The Lions Club will not meet on July 4th but will meet on July 18.

Escape Artist To Give Show At School July 4

(Continued from Page One) high respect for the uncanny feats of the roving fakirs of Turkey, China and India, but considers them inferior to that of our American Escapeology; he is probably the last living artist who has so thoroughly mastered his profession.

The Chicago born Lockman, son of a railroad engineer, is a finished cartoonist as well as an escapologist.

With his cartooning he will introduce his assistant and lovely wife, Pearl Lockman, who has a most unique art all of her own. Mrs. Lockman is well known and envied for her ability to produce pictures comparable to the oils of the Old Masters, but no brush or paints are used; she does it with bits of rags and scraps of cloth!

Members of the VFW Post hope many people will attend this unusual and interesting show, the proceeds of which will be used in the VFW youth program.

Present Outlook Is For Fewer Turkeys

County Agent Overman Gives Advice To Growers

It seems rather certain now that there will be less turkeys produced this year. All things being normal, this should bring higher prices to the producers, says County Agent C. W. Overman. With this expected price increase, some may be inclined to neglect range. In order to make the most profit from this year's crop of turkeys, good range will help go it.

"Be a leader," says Mr. Overman. "Show your neighbors how you can produce cheaper turkeys by the use of grazing. There is still time to seed late ranges for those late turkeys. Soybeans, sudan grass, starr millet, and late range are some good crops that can be seeded now, or later as well as some late plantings of milo. Provide one acre for each 100 turkeys, and make yourself some extra profit. Recent experiments show that good range is worth two cents per pound of live weight. Some of you may have some green feed available and do not want to range your turkeys over it. You might try cutting this green feed with an all crop harvester and hauling it to the turkeys each day. Caution is the watchword when doing this. Put grit before the turkeys a day or two before you begin chopping this green feed. Do not over-feed this chopped feed. Give the turkeys what they will eat in one or two hours, and wait until the next day to give more.

"Late poulters require a somewhat different set of brooding conditions than early turkeys. Less heat is required for a shorter period of time, more air is needed to keep them cool, and roosts can be used earlier than for early turkeys. Roosts can be used as early as two weeks of age for late turkeys, as well as sunporches. Larger quantities of water are consumed in hot weather, making it necessary to increase the number of waterers in the house. Four waterers, 4 feet in length, or their equivalent should be provided for each 1,200 turkeys. If you have less than this, you are not getting your best feed conversion and growth rate. Be progressive! Grow the best turkeys in your community and receive the high dollar.

"Turkey growers should try growing some grain sorghum or Milo for range feeding. If a planting hasn't already been made, plant now for fall range. Fertilize the land just as for corn. Plant in rows 2 1/2 to 3 feet in width. When plants are 12 inches high, sidedress with 60 or more pounds of nitrogen per acre, that is three hundred seventy five pounds of nitrate of soda, three hundred pounds of A.N.L. or two hundred pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre."

CHOWAN NEWS

By HELEN McDONALD
Assistant Home Agent

As I am becoming acquainted with the people of this county I realize that although they are a group of hard-working people, they enjoy life, too, and they are interested in the development of their children into strong, healthy, educated individuals. Chowan County seems to have quite a number of leaders among its young people and I would like to think the 4-H program here has been one of the means through which their leadership has been developed. I cannot help but realize that if all 4-H Club members were active everyone would gain more benefit from the club and each would be helping the other to become better equipped to meet life as an adult. Therefore I feel that any urging I do for active participation in the club should be of direct benefit to the individual and to their families.

The Center Hill Local 4-H Club met Wednesday night, June 22, at the home of Kay Frances White. During the meeting three officers were elected, leaving the rest of the elections until a later meeting. They were: Peggy Smith, president; Jimmy Hollowell, vice president; and Kay Frances White, secretary. Joe Higgins was elected to have charge of the next program.

Club Schedule
Wednesday, July 6, Washington, N. C.—District Elimination Day.
Thursday, July 7, Cannon's Ferry Local 4-H Club will meet at 8:00 P. M.

Lieut. Frank Stover Killed In Plane Crash

Tragedy struck the home of First Lieut. and Mrs. Frank R. Stover in Westover Heights Tuesday afternoon of last week, when Lieut. Stover lost his life after a Douglas Skyraider attack plane crashed into the Atlantic Ocean about 10 miles north of Nags Head. Lieut. Stover and three other Skyraiders were on a routine training flight when, according to reports, the engine failed and he and the plane fell into the ocean.

Lieut. Stover was attached to Marine Attack Squadron 211. He and his wife, Mrs. Dixie C. Stover, are natives of Alexandria, Va., and had been living at 17 Westover Heights.

Discussions on case-finding and diagnosis, nutrition, rehabilitation, contacts of TB and related services were discussed by groups composed of sanatorium staff, health officers, public health nurses, welfare, rehabilitation and tuberculosis workers.

After joint sessions each group with leaders and guide toured the sanatorium.

Sunbury Trims Bears By Score Of 13 To 1

Sunbury defeated the Bears of the Edenton Marine Corps Auxiliary Landing Field by a wide margin Sunday. Lack of hitting and ragged fielding by the Bears led to the one-sided defeat. However, with the return of some regular players and practice promises better results in coming games.

The Bears were scheduled to play Colerain on the latter's diamond Wednesday of this week.
