Leaf Hopper Now Attacking Peanuts In Eastern Carolina

Farmers Urged to Ob- serve Fields and Dust For Control of Pest

The leaf hopper infestation in the peanut field of eastern North Carolina is the greatest that it has been in several years, announces S. Sugg, Executive Secretary, North Carolina Peanut Growers Association. The high per cent infestation of leaf hopper is causing considerable damage to the peanut crops and will show up much worse within the next few weeks, according to Mr. Sugg. He stated that there have been certain fields where the foliage has been damaged as high as 50 per cent, and if something isn't done immediately to eradicate the leaf hopper, according to Sugg, the yields of the peanut crop this fall can be reduced as much as 50 per cent by this insect.

The treatment as recommended by North Carolina State College, said Sugg, is relatively simple and

Parents Urged Use Common Sense Precautions To Guard Against Spreading Of Polio

Health Officials Expect High Incidence In State During Coming Months Following Results of Recent Study of Disease

The use of Salk poliomyelitis vaccine may not materially influence poliomyelitis rates in North Carolina in 1955, and parents of children who receive the vaccine must continue to exercise common-sense precautions to guard youngsters against the disease in the coming months of expected high incidence.

This was the two-fold warning issued by officials of the N. C. State Board of Health and the University of North Carolina School of Public Health in making public the results of a study designed to predict the influence of the widely acclaimed anti-polio vaccine in the Tar Heel state.

The study, conducted by Dr. Bernard G. Greenberg, professor of Biostatistics of the School of Public Health and Dr. Charles M. Cameron of the Division of Epidemiology of the State Board of Health, was based on the official results of the Salk vaccine Evaluation Study conducted by the University of Michigan and on the past history of poliomyelitis outbreaks in this state.

The authors state that on the basis of the Michigan report, the effectiveness of the Salk vaccine against reported cases of poliomyelitis of all types is 49 per cent. This indicates that among persons inoculated, 49 per cent will be protected against the disease.

In their part, released by both state public health agencies, figures are cited which show that in an average year, North Carolinians may expect about 630 cases of poliomyelitis to be reported and if all persons in the state receive vaccine, there would still occur 321

Jaycees Emphasize Safe - Sane Driving By Drivers Of Autos

Grim Reminder Now On Display Near Police Station

Sponsored by the Edenton Junior Chamber of Commerce, assisted by Highway Patrolman Mack Rogerson, a grim reminder of tragedy on the highways was this week placed on the boulevard in front of the police station. A badly wrecked automobile is now on display as part of the Edenton Jaycees' effort to cooperate in the Slow Down and Live program now in progress under the sponsorship of the N. C. State Highway Patrol.

As a further effort to cooperate in safe and sane driving, the Edenton Jaycees have purchased a safety sign 4 feet by 8 feet which emphasizes the Slow Down and Live program and will be erected near Edenton. The State Jaycees at their annual convention agreed to purchase 100 of these signs and the local Jaycees purchased one as their part in emphasizing safety on the highways.

Homecoming To Be Held On Sunday At Rocky Hock Church

Very Interesting Pro- gram Arranged For Occasion

Next Sunday, July 31, homecoming day will be observed at the Rocky Hock Baptist Church, which is 120 years old. The occasion for this event is the recent completion of a new educational building, which is the fifth major building program in the history of the church. The new addition is of block brick construction 45x70 feet and contains 19 rooms. The construction and equipping represents a total cost of $39,645.16.

An interesting program has been arranged for homecoming day, which will begin at 10:30 A. M., and end about 3:30 P. M. Members of the congregation, together with the pastor, the Rev. B. L. Raines, extend a cordial invitation to former members of the church and friends of the church to attend.

The Rev. W. C. Francis, one of the 16 former pastors of the church, who is now pastor of a church at Kannapolis, N. C., will be the principal speaker at the morning service.

Freak Accident At Providence Church Does Much Damage

Entire End of Colored Church Caves In Unexpectedly

Considerable damage was done to Providence Baptist Church by a freak accident Tuesday night of last week, when the entire rear end of the church building collapsed.

Members of the congregation, of which the Rev. C. C. Boone is pastor, were in the process of building an addition to the church and had dug trenches in which to pour concrete for the foundation of the new building. However, it rained Tuesday night and it is believed the water caused the ground to cave in adjoining the church thus weakening the foundation of the main building and caused the entire end to topple to the ground. Fortunately, the accident occurred at night after all the workmen had left the church, so that nobody was injured in the crash.

The congregation began immediately to clear the debris and workmen are now proceeding with repairing the damage done to the church and adding a new section.

Tight Race Developing For Lead In Albemarle League

Only One Full Game Separates First 4 Teams

Though still occupying fourth place in the Albemarle League up to Tuesday of this week, Manager Alton Brooks' Colonials were only one full game back of Hertford, the league leaders. Hertford, however, was leading Coleman and Elizabeth City by only half a game, so that the race has developed into a tooth and nail fight between the top four teams.

Chowan is 8 1/2 games out of first place and Weeksville NAF, still occupying the cellar position, trails by 10 1/2 games.

Edenton 3, Chowan 1

On Hicks Field Wednesday night the Edenton Colonials defeated Chowan 3 to 1 in one of the best played games of the season. It was a mound duel between Ray Rogerson for the Colonials and Bill Williford for Chowan with Rogerson allowing only three hits while Williford allowed only four hits.

It was a nip and tuck affair except in the second inning when the Colonials scored all of their three runs. Gashouse Parker walked, the only man given four balls by Williford during the game. Brooks, next up, singled and Bill Elliott was safe on a bunt which filled the bases. A score took on a gloomy aspect as Billy Forehand and Tommy Bass were out by way of the strike-out route. However, Rogerson connected for a double which allowed all three runners to scamper home. The Colonials made no further scoring threat as Williford gave up only one other hit, a single by Billy Forehand in the seventh inning, and retired 14 men in a row.

Chowan's only run was scored in the sixth after two men were out. Clyde Briggs doubled near the left field line. When the ball was returned it, got away from Bass at second and rolled in right field. Parker threw to Jack Bunch, who missed the ball and Briggs was safe at third. He scored later when Jordan missed Sexton's fly in center field.

Both teams played a good brand of ball on the field with a number of plays thrilling the spectators.

Only 12 Cast Ballots Against the Peanut Assessment

Chowan County joined more than 97 per cent of the tobacco and peanut growers who voted in Saturday's referendums in favor of continuing marketing quotas for tobacco and price supports at 90 per cent of parity and to continue and increase as assessment to support the North Carolina Peanut Growers Association, Inc.

Peanut growers voted to increase a levy of one cent per hundred pounds of peanuts to two cents per hundred pounds. This money will be used by the Peanut Growers Association to continue its work for the best interest of growers of the Virginia type peanuts.

C. Shields Alexander of Scotland Neck, president of the Peanut Growers Association, was very well pleased with the favorable peanut assessment vote. "The increase in size of the vote," he said, "shows that peanut growers are anxious to help themselves through their own efforts and their own organization." The number who voted for the increased levy was almost double the number of ballots cast in a similar referendum in 1953 when the one cent levy was approved by peanut growers.

Tobacco growers voted to continue marketing quotas, acreage allotments and 90 per cent price supports for three years, 1956, 1957 and 1958. A reduction of 12 per cent in acreage allotments for next year has already been announced by Secretary of Agriculture Benson. An assessment of 10 cents for each acre of tobacco grown will go to Tobacco Associates, a promotional self-help organization.

Chowan County's vote in Saturday's referendum was:

Tobacco Marketing quotas for three years, 118; for one year, 0; against quotas, 5.

For Tobacco Associates assessment, 109; against, 1.

For peanut growers' assessment, 245; against 12.

During the meeting Leon Gray, superintendent of Oxford Orphanage, gave a stirring address concerning the children at the Oxford Orphanage and thanked the Masons of the Second District for their loyal support of the children.

George Bennett, superintendent of the Masonic and Eastern Star Home at Greensboro, also painted an appealing word picture of the group of old men and women who are spending the twilight of their lives in the home, where they are happy and contented. He made special reference to Paul Olsson, a member of Unanimity Lodge, who spent his last days at the home, where he left a lasting memorial by a beautiful painting in the home's chapel.
