

AUGUST POULTRY SUGGESTIONS

COUNTY AGENT EXPLAINS NEW EGG LAW

How will the new egg law which became effective July 1, 1955, affect the poultry raisers? The following points may help answer this question and also help producers comply with the North Carolina Egg Law:

1. Definition: "Producer" means a person, firm, or corporation selling no eggs other than eggs produced by his or her own flock.
2. Exemptions: "Producers" of market and hatching eggs, also "buyers" and "sellers" of hatching eggs and "interstate shipment" of eggs are exempt from the egg law.
3. Producer May Grade: The N. C. Egg Law does not prevent a producer or anyone from grading and selling eggs according to the grades and sizes adopted by the Board of Agriculture. Producers that sell graded eggs in cartons should print or stamp the grade and size of the letters should be at least one-fourth (1/4) of one inch high on each carton.
5. Buying Eggs To Sell: When a producer buys eggs for resale, he automatically becomes a distributor and pays two cents per case on the eggs he buys and also on the eggs he produces.
6. Bulk Eggs: Retailers buying loose eggs directly from producers can sell them without showing the grade and size on the case, box, however, the display must be labeled Producer Eggs. If the eggs are graded, then the grade and size must be shown in legible letters at least one-half inch high.
7. Invoice: Producers who sell eggs to retail stores, cafes, etc., are to furnish an invoice showing the name and address of seller, name and address of buyer, and the quantity and date of sale. If the eggs are graded, the grade and size are to be shown on the invoice. However, producers selling less than five dozen eggs, which are not in carton, are not required to give an invoice. Also, no invoice is necessary when eggs are sold directly to the consumer.
8. Ungraded Eggs: Edible eggs not classified and segregated for grade and size are called ungraded eggs.
9. Bad Eggs: Producers are not exempt from the provisions of the rules and regulations prohibiting the sale of inedible eggs.
10. Penalty: Maximum fine not more than $50.00 or imprisonment not more than thirty days.
11. For more information on the egg law: Contact your County Agents' Office or write to the N.C.D.A., Division of Markets, Raleigh, says C. W. Overman, County Agent.

Town Petitioned To Curb Noisy Trucks

Mayor Kehayes pointed out that the situation is rather complicated, but he assured Mr. Everett that everything possible will be done to bring about some relief.

J. P. Ricks and William D. Bennett representing the Bishop Laundry, made an appeal for permission to make additions to their plant to take care of an already and anticipated increase in business. Their request was denied by the Zoning Adjustment Board in that their establishment is located in a residential section according to the recent zoning ordinance. Mayor Kehayes appointed George Alma Byrum and Luther Parks to study the situation and report at the next Council meeting.

A small group of colored people attended the meeting in connection with the town taking over the Vine Oak Cemetery. It was pointed out that no record of graves and plots except those recently sold, were available, so that a complicated situation exists. J. Edwin Buflap and Graham Byrum were appointed to confer with trustees of the cemetery to determine what can be worked out regarding ownership of graves and plots.

John A. Holmes informed the Councilmen that the school trustees were preparing to purchase a portion of the Norfolk Southern Railroad property adjoining the new addition to the colored school and asked if the town would accept a right of way to build a street extending from the east end of School Street to the railroad. He also stated he understood an industry was interested in purchasing the remainder of the railroad property if a street was constructed. The Councilmen agreed to accept a deed from the school trustees for the right of way for a street.

Various reports were presented from the various departments, including the work done during the month by the Street Department, the first time such a report was prepared.

BE PROUD BUT CAUTIOUS. EXPERT ADVISES FARMERS

It's fine to be proud of your poultry flock and buildings, but let caution guide you in showing them off, advises R. S. Dearstynne, professor of poultry science at State College.

Dearstynne believes that disease prevention is the best method of disease control. In view of this, he strongly urges poultrymen not to allow visitors in his poultry houses or on the chicken range.

Most chickens have some disease-producing germs in their digestive tracts or in their respiratory systems. It is also probable that all flocks have some intestinal parasites among their members. These germs lodge in the litter, on equipment and on range.

Visitors who come to your farm perhaps have walked through their own poultry houses or someone else's. It is possible that they carry disease organisms on their shoes, and there's a good chance your flock will become infected. To survive in today's competitive market, the producer must eliminate all factors he can that increase production costs. Disease outbreaks often determine whether or not a poultryman makes a profit or suffers a loss, Dearstynne says.

PUGH - MAYO

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Mayo announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Essie Lee Mayo, to Edward E. Pugh. The wedding took place Monday, August 8, in Edenton.

Fair Question

MacPherson was strolling down the street when he noticed what he thought was the familiar figure of a friend. Quickening his steps he came up to the man and slapped him on the back. To his amazement and confusion he then saw that he had greeted an utter stranger.

"Oh, I beg your pardon," he said apologetically. "I thought you were an old friend of mine, Mackintosh by name."

The stranger recovered his wits and replied heatedly: "And supposing I were Mackintosh, do you have to hit me so hard?"

"What do you care," retorted MacPherson, "how hard I hit Mackintosh?"
