Since the creation of the Extension Service, millions of boys and girls throughout the United States and its possessions have been given an opportunity to improve their lives by carrying out projects in better farm and home living, by giving demonstrations, and by practicing their motto, "To Make The Best

During the National Observance of 4-H Week, Chowan 4-H'ers will review their achievements during the past year and study methods of improving their efforts during the current year.

The 4-H organization is the world's largest youth organization. It consists of a million and a half boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21. There are nearly 150,000 members in North Caroina. Chowan membership consists of 150 girls and 120 boys.

Among highlights of 4-H work last year were: County Elimina. tion Day; 4-H Dress Revue; 4-H Health Pageant; 4-H Church Sunlay; Achievement Day; 4-H Week District Recognition Day; local, school and County 4-H meetings and, of course, the 4-H project work by boys and girls. J. N. Pruden Authorized to Secure Competitive Bids

Reporting to the County Commissioners Monday about a conference attended by W. W. Byrum, chairman, W. E. Bond and County Attorney J. N. Pruden, the Commissioners decided to proceed with revaluation of property in Chowan County in deference to construct ing county offices in the building recently purchased from T. C. By-

It was reported that Chowan County was one of only 13 North Carolina counties which has not had a recent revaluation of property. It was also pointed out that there is gross inequality in property as now appearing on the County tax books so that the Commissioners took the position that this problem is more important at present than building office space for county offices.

After a lengthy discussion J. N. Pruden was authorized to advertise for competitive bids for revaluating property on a countywide basis as well as inclusion of a map, which is also a costly phase of revaluation.
