

Women's Air Force Seeking Recruits

Recruiter at Edenton Post-Office Thursday Mornings

A new officer procurement plan designed to appeal to a larger and more varied group of women has been adopted by the Women's Air Force, according to S/Sgt. Norman G. Dean, local Air Force recruiter.

Air Force Sgt. Dtan pointed out that eligibility requirements for attending WAF officer candidate schools has been reduced to include WAF members with high school diplomas and civilian applicants with two years of college training.

Qualified women who are college graduates are now being selected for direct commissions.

Sgt. Dean stated that there currently is a shortage of WAF officers, and urged all women of this area interested in a career in the WAF to contact him any Thursday at the post office in Edenton from 9:00 A. M., to 12:00 Noon.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

God had a purpose in creating the world; and, third, that the crowning act in all of creation was man, made in the "image of God."

It is true that the story of creation, as contained in Genesis, has caused much argument. The critics ignore entirely the spirit and purpose of the story and arbitrarily pick upon this passage, or that, interpreting it literally, in an effort to disprove its assertions.

However, there is no occasion for believers to be worried about this attack. The Book of Genesis was not intended as a scientific document; it was written in spiritual terms, for religious purposes. In attempting to write the record of creation in a few words is like reducing the map of a continent into a single square inch. Neither should the time of creation prove a problem. Some authorities place the time at about six thousand years ago, or in the year 4004 B.C. However, the Bible gives no time but states "in the beginning" God created our earth, and science places that beginning at an almost inconceivably distant period.

Very early in the book, the supreme fact of an active Creator is set forth, a Creator whose intelligence and planning was responsible for the world in which man was to live. No thoughtful student, contemplating the universe today, can honestly believe that it was the product of mere chance. The order and regularity of creation denies an origin governed entirely by accident. As well might the maker of a watch, a typewriter, or any other intricate, modern machine, place the numerous parts in a box and shake them, with the expectation that they would assemble themselves properly, as to believe that the world was a mass, flung into space, to create itself.

The wonders of astronomy, or of chemistry, or of any other phase of creation, reveal to the intelligent application of the human mind the intelligence, beneficent planning of an all-wise creator. Dr. J. Patterson-Smyth says, "The Bible says that God created the heavens and the earth and then created man. Exactly what the scientist says, but he loves to find out how God did it. And God is helping him to find out. That is all. The Bible does not conflict with him. He sees that creation would be just as divine and miraculous if it were slow and gradual. . . . The Bible story, with marvelous—surely with inspired—reserve, lays down no theory to hamper scientific study. Science can never have any quarrel with its simple pronouncement, "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth."

The first chapter of Genesis pictures the creation of the universe and its occupants. Two parallel sets of three periods (called days) are given us. The first day gives us the sphere of light and the fourth day tenants it with sun, moon and stars. The second day presents the realm of air and water and the fifth inhabits it with birds and fishes. The third day produces habitable, dry land and the sixth provides it with animals and man. It is interesting to notice that the order of creation of the plants and animals agrees with that development by geology and the formation of the stellar universe, and the origin of the earth is readily reconciled to the deductions of the astronomers.

The supreme act of creation, of course, was the making of man, in God's own image. Therefore, man has: (1) an immortal soul; (2) an intelligent mind; (3) a conscience; (4) an individualistic personality; (5) a will of his own; (6) an idea of moral righteousness; and (7) is endowed with affections, the capacity to love. These items are pointed out by Dr. Ira M. Price, who adds, "With all these qualifications, he was made ruler of all the earth. He is master of all and yet, alas, so often man is not master of himself. It might be well for us to remember that, "What we are is God's gift to us; what we make of ourselves, our gift to Him."

The show girls, Kay Harris, front, and Una Denton, will scoot from Calais to Dover—they hope. The machine has a speed of 20 knots, and will automatically slow and circle back if the riders fall off. The pair is shown, above, on practice run at Folkestone, England.
