New Jailfor Chowan County Flat Been Postponed Too Long State Jail Inspector Says

Banning Confinement of Women

T. A. Early, jail inspector for the State of North Carolina, was in Representative of Dis-Edenton Tuesday and was very outspoken and determined that Chowan County will have to build a new jail. Mr. Early a number of times previously has called this fits for Women" by district reprematter to the attention of the sentative Phillip Bettendorf, of ed with The Herald his vote to ta-County Commissioners, but each Norfolk, featured the monthly dintime he became lenient when the financial condition of the county ness and Professional Women's was pointed out to him.

"The talking stage has come a new jail, the Chowan jail will be been possible under the old law.

Mr. Early repeatedly has pointed out that the Chowan jail is outmoded and unfit for the incarceration of prisoners. He informed Mr. Byrum that upon his return to Raleigh he will cause to be issued an order forbidding women to be confined in the jail. Of course, if the jail is padlocked, a major problem that nearby counties have no more | House of Representatives. accommodation for prisoners than they need. As it is, when the order is issued to prohibit confinement of women, they will have to be taken elsewhere if they are to be confined in jail.

Mr. Early had only words praise for Jailer Herman Whit saying that with what Mr. White has to work with, he has never seen a jail in better sanitary condition. However, he said, the jail is substandard, lacks proper facilities and is completely obsolete for use in confinement and care of prisoners, especially women.

Mr. Byrum will report his connext Monday morning, but just what can be done is a big question mark.

It is roughly estimated that a new jail which will comply with state requirements will cost be tween $150,000 and $175,000.
