Bond-McCollum Vows Solemnized

MRS. WILLIAM EDMUND BOND, JR.

The First Baptist Church at Fairmont was the scene Saturday evening, August 17, of the lovely wedding in which Miss Gloria McCollum of Fairmont became the bride of William Edmund Bond, Jr., of Edenton. The double ring ceremony was solemnized at 8 o'clock with the Rev. Thomas L. Rich officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Herbert McCollum of Fairmont, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Edmund Bond of Clement Hall, Edenton.

Prior to the service an interlude of nuptial music was rendered by Miss Ruth Alford, organist, Mrs. Paul Smith of Rowland, violinist, and William Hough and Miss Mary Bruce Grimsley who sang a duet.

Miss McCollum, who was given a beautiful gown of white Italian silk taffeta. It was fashioned on princess lines and featured a portrait neckline outlined in Alencon lace sprinkled with seed pearls, sequins, and rhinestones. The fitted sleeves tapered into calla lily points over the hands, and the bodice closed at the back with a row of tiny self-covered buttons. The skirt, which featured lace medallions at the waist, fell into a graceful chapel train.

The bride's finger-tip veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of matching Alencon lace trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. Her bouquet was of pink roses showered with tuberoses.

Maid of honor was Miss Anne Fetzer of Reidsville, and bridesmaids were Miss Harriet Bond of Edenton, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Julia Allen of Smithfield, and Miss Ruth Lockamy of Dunn. They all wore identical gowns of petal pink chiffon. The waltz-length models were designed with a shirred modified torso which extended into a floating full skirt. Drifts of chiffon formed the graceful cowl neckline.

The attendants wore bow bandeaux of autumn ruby velvet in their hair, and carried pink mums which were used effectively on shirred barrel muffs of autumn ruby velvet.

Linwood Bond of Edenton served as his brother's best man, and usher groomsmen included James Herbert McCollum, Jr., of Fairmont, brother of the bride, Albert G. Byrum, Jr., cousin of the bridegroom, William B. Gardner, Thomas E. Ward, Thomas Erie Haste, Jr., all of Edenton, and William H. Weatherly III, of Elizabeth City.

The candlelight church was beautifully decorated with red, white and pink Beauty asters and mums with background embankments of palms. Candle-arches and candelabra held tall cathedral tapers. Serving as acolytes were Bert Bennett of Stokesdale and Billy Joyce of Stoneville, cousins of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. McCollum chose a formal gown of wisteria lavender silk chiffon over lace styled with full circular skirt, fitted bodice of chiffon featuring a back-drape neckline and accented by a large flower of matching hue at the shoulder. She pinned an orchid on her seed pearl evening bag.

The bridegroom's mother wore a formal waltz-length gown of pink lace and on her shoulder was pinned a white orchid.

Following the ceremony at the church, the bride's parents entertained at a reception at Pine Crest Country Club in Lumberton. The reception rooms for this affair carried out the same wedding colors of red, white and pink in the many lovely floral arrangements and other details. The large hall featured an unusually large double white satin heart filled with pink flowers over the mantle.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Biggs greeted the arriving callers who were directed to the reception hall by Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Floyd. Here Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Webster introduced to a receiving line composed of the bridal couple and their parents. Presenting to a second line composed of the bridal attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Floyd.

Guests were then invited to the refreshment table by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thompson where Miss Katrina Jenkins received. The table was overlaid with pink linen and net and was centered with an epergne of tapers and dainty pink flowers. Silver punch bowls were placed at either end of the table and miniature nosegays of pink were at each corner.

Alternating at the punch bowls were Miss Virginia Floyd, Mrs. A. A. Fowler and Mrs. M. D. McRae. Assisting in serving petit-fours, cheese straws, hors d'oeuvres, ice cream moulds, and fruit punch were Misses Lula Williams of Lumberton, Mary Bruce Grimsley, Jane Floyd and Julia Floyd.

The register was kept by Mr. and Mrs. Vann Floyd.

Receiving on the porch were Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Baxley. Here punch was served from a smaller refreshment table.

During the evening the traditional cake-cutting by the bride and bridegroom highlighted the festivities. Music was furnished throughout the evening hours by the Harry Lynhoff quartet. Departing guests said their goodbyes to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hodges.

Later in the evening the newlyweds left on a southern wedding trip, after which they will be at home in Edenton. For traveling, the bride wore a two-piece ensemble of black and white checked cotton with black lace trim. Her accessories were of black.

Mrs. Bond is a Duke University graduate and has been a member of the Edenton Junior-Senior High School faculty during the past two years.

The bridegroom attended Randolph Macon Men's College, where he was a member of Phi Kappa Sigma social fraternity. He is a veteran of two years Army service, and is now engaged in farming with his father.

Rehearsal Party
On Friday evening prior to the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Biggs of Lumberton entertained members of the wedding party, both families, and out-of-town guests at a rehearsal party at their home. Around 60 guests were present for this enjoyable event.

As guests arrived, they were invited to the Biggs home by Mrs. H. Craven Pitman and presented to the honor couple and their party.

1957 Support Price For Corn Is Announced

The 1957 corn crop produced in North Carolina's 32 commercial corn counties will carry a minimum support rate of $1.49 a bushel. This rate, according to Tilman R. Walker, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, is based on a national average rate of $1.36 a bushel for corn grading No. 3 or better except for moisture or corn grading No. 4 for test weight only but otherwise grading No. 3 or better.

The following counties are included in the commercial corn area for 1957: Beaufort, Bertie, Camden, Chowan, Columbus, Craven, Currituck, Duplin, Edgecombe, Gates, Greene, Halifax, Harnett, Hertford, Hyde, Johnston, Jones, Lenoir, Martin, Nash, Northampton, Onslow, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Pitt, Robeson, Sampson, Tyrrell, Wake, Washington, Wayne and Wilson.

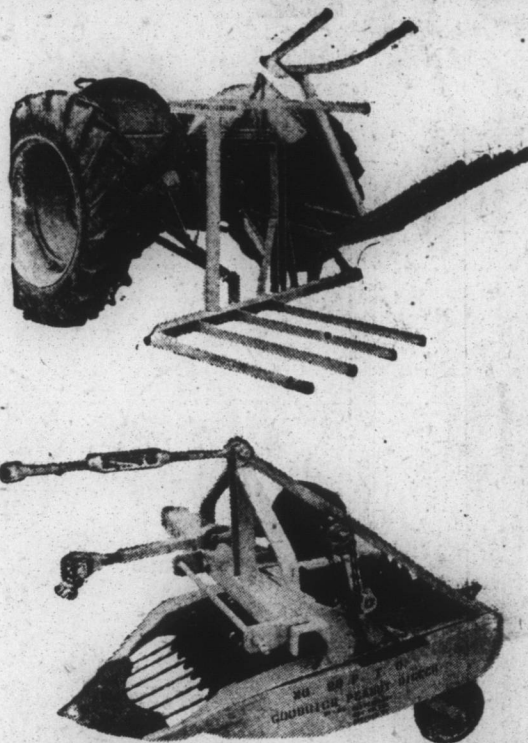

The minimum support rate in counties outside the commercial corn area will be $1.12 per bushel.

The 1957 loan program provides for premiums and discounts in connection with corn placed under loan. Complete information on these premiums or discounts as well as availability of storage may be obtained from any ASC county office.
